THE NATION'S PREMIER UNIVERSITY

The world all at once: Limitless possibilities are at the heart of Stanford University.

Global positioning systems and gene splicing, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest and The Grapes of Wrath, the football huddle and the T-formation, Yahoo! and Google—all bear the mark of a Stanford individual. At Stanford, you will find the entire universe of what humankind knows and is endeavoring to know. From your first days on campus, this universe will be yours to explore, yours to discover. Stanford will ask that intellectual curiosity be your compass, that excellence be your true north.

Along the way, you will have the guidance of extraordinary faculty mentors who are at the forefront of advancing the world's understanding of subjects ranging from geophysics to history to bioscience to musical composition. You will also have the friendship of fellow students who will awe and inspire you as much for their humanity as for their talents. As you pursue the questions that interest you most, your mentors and friends will give you the freedom to risk temporary failure as you push yourself both intellectually and personally—along with the freedom and encouragement to pursue what you love.

Your reward will be the exhilaration of discovery—the exhilaration of true excellence.

SEASON PREVIEW

2009 STANFORD MEN'S SOCCER

2009 Men's Soccer Outlook

The 2009 soccer season has arrived with the high expectations. A veteran group has been joined by a group of gifted newcomers to give Stanford a strong array of talent. The Cardinal is looking to be nationally competitive with a goal of returning to the NCAA playoffs for the first time since 2002, when they made it all the way to the national final.

"The expectation is that the team will be nationally competitive again," said head coach Bret Simon. "The reason that the expectations are so high is the higher level of talent and the increased depth."

Stanford will also be bolstered by the return of two of the team's top players, Evan Morgan and T.J. Novak, who missed the 2008 season due to injuries.

"Evan and T.J. are exactly the kind of players and leaders that all teams need in order to be successful," said Simon. "They've both overcome adversity. They both care deeply about the program, and of course they are both very talented players."

The team returns seven starters, including five seniors who have been mainstays of the program (Novak, Morgan, Michael Strickland, Thiago Sa Freire and John Moore). A trio of juniors (Bobby Warshaw, Ryan Thomas and Cameron Lamming) are former youth national team members who have the potential to make a major impact this season.

Both Warshaw and Strickland were first team All-Pac-10 performers in 2008, with Warshaw also earning third team All-America honors from TopDrawerSoccer.com. Although Warshaw has been Stanford's leading scorer the last two years, he took on a defensive role during the spring season. This should bolster an already strong defense, anchored by Moore, a four-year starter in the net. Last season, the Cardinal allowed just 21 goals in 18 games.

Among the 12 other returners are the spring's leading scorer, Dominique Yahyavi and dynamic midfielder Garrett Gunther. Attackers Daniel Leon, Cullen Wilson and Alexander Binnie will be vying for starting positions. Clayton Holz seemed to find a home as an outside defender in the spring season. Kevin Huang, Shaun Culver, Ben Grafentin and Tommy Ryan all showed well at times over the past year in defensive roles. Adoni Levine and Taylor Amman showed promise and the ability to play more than one midfield or attacking position in 2008.

Simon also believes that an outstanding spring has made the Cardinal ready for a breakout 2009 season.

"The spring was the beginning of the coming of age for this team," he said. "We have lots of talented players who now have a year or two under their belts. They have a better understanding of their roles on the field and they've been gaining confidence in their ability to create and score goals."

The strong spring season also may have renewed the focus of a team that now believes it can compete at the national level.

"The entire team has really put in the preparation including having all players pass the preseason fitness test which is the first time that's happened since I've been at Stanford," said Simon.

In addition to the group of returners, six new faces will join the 2009 squad as incoming freshmen. All have impressive credentials and have played for some of the top youth soccer programs in the country. They are goalkeepers Jason Dodson (Lakeridge H.S., Ore. and Lake Oswego SC) and Galen Perkins (Westbrook H.S., Maine and Seacoast United SC), defender Hunter Gorskie (Marlboro H.S., N.J. and PDA), outside midfielder Eric Anderson (University H.S., San Francisco, Calif. and Marin FC) and strikers Adam Jahn (Jesuit H.S., Calif. and San Juan SC) and Dersu Abolfathi (University H.S., Irvine, Calif. and LA Galaxy).

Schedule

The season begins with a cross-country excursion to Lehigh and Rutgers, two programs with strong soccer traditions. The following weekend will feature 2008 NCAA tournament team Cal Poly in the Cardinal home opener. Local soccer powers and rivals will meet in the annual Bay Area Classic when Stanford plays at Santa Clara and home against San Francisco. The Stanford Nike Classic rounds out the nonconference season as the Cardinal takes on Air Force and New Mexico.

The conference season will be challenging once again as all six Pac-10 opponents have legitimate expectations of reaching the NCAA tournament. The Cardinal opens conference play at Cal on October 2. Each conference team will be played twice, once home and once away, over six weekends in October and the first half of November.

The NCAA tournament begins the weekend of November 21 and the Cardinal have high hopes of returning to the glory years of 2001 and 2002 where long runs in the tournament were the norm and the national championship is the goal.

Position By Position Preview

Forwards

Sixth-year senior Evan Morgan leads a young group packed with potential. Morgan returns from two separate knee injuries and is ready to regain his 2006 form when he led the Cardinal in goals. Junior Daniel Leon also should make a major impact. The youth comes from a trio of sophomores: Taylor Amman, Cullen Wilson and Alexander Binnie, and freshman Adam Jahn. Amman has shown skill playing wide and with the ball at his feet, while Jahn enters the collegiate ranks as a two-time Gatorade California State Player of the Year.

Central Midfielders

Returning All-Pac-10 first team player Michael Strickland leads this deep and talented group. Strickland will man the middle of the field from his holding midfield spot. He will be joined in the middle by fellow senior Thiago Se Freire to give the Cardinal a dynamic and experienced central midfield. Adoni Levine returns for his sophomore season and has shown lots of skill on the ball. Also joining the mix in the middle is heralded freshman Dersu Abolfathi, who should push for immediate playing time.

Wide Midfielders

Junior Dominique Yahyavi returns with the most experience and has shown great one-on-one skills. Sophomores Garrett Gunther and Clayton Holz saw significant time as freshmen and are key components to the 2009 squad. Freshman Eric Anderson enters the mix with ability to play right away.

Central Defenders

Leading scorer and All-Pac-10 first teamer, junior Bobby Warshaw settles into a new role leading the Cardinal defense. He will be joined in the middle by a pair of juniors, the exceptional passing Kevin Huang and the big and tough Shaun Culver. Sophomore Ben Grafentin has also showed toughness in the middle, while freshman Hunter Gorskie could push for a starting spot.

Wide Defenders

Fifth-year senior T.J. Novak is back from injury and returns to his role as a wide defender. Juniors Cameron Lamming and Ryan Thomas also return after seeing major action in 2008. Sophomore Tommy Ryan rounds out the talented group that can both defend and get into the Cardinal attack.

Goalkeepers

Senior John Moore returns to complete his career as a four-year starter. Moore should be one of the top keepers in the Pac-10 and potentially the nation. Behind Moore will be a pair of freshman, Jason Dodson and Galen Perkins, who will be vying for the backup job.

Bret Simon

Head Coach
Ninth Season
Massachusetts '80

In eight seasons at Stanford, Bret Simon has guided teams to two a pair of College Cups, a Pacific-10 Conference title and has guided several players onto play in the professional ranks.

Simon has already been at the helm for some of the biggest achievements in Stanford soccer history.

But that's not surprising. Now in his 21st season as a collegiate head coach, Simon has a history of winning. He has an overall record of 247-132-50, including eight appearances in the NCAA tournament. In his 13 years in Division I, Simon has built a 164-89-34 career mark, including an impressive 15-8-2 (.620) record in NCAA postseason competition, thanks largely to four appearances in the College Cup. Since arriving at Stanford in 2001, Simon has compiled a 68-63-26 overall record for a .519 winning percentage.

Simon is one of only two coaches in NCAA history to take two different programs to the NCAA College Cup, and has been named Coach of the Year in two conferences.

Simon has coached 26 all-conference first-team selections, six conference players of the year, five NSCAA first-team All-Americans, four United States national team players and a Hermann Trophy winner.

Thirteen of his players have advanced to Major League Soccer, including three former Stanford stars -- Todd Dunivant, Chad Marshall and Andrew Kartunen -- who remain active. They are among six of Simon's former players in the league.

Simon piloted the Cardinal to College Cup appearances in his first two seasons on The Farm, including a trip to the 2002 NCAA final. It marked the second time a Simon coached team reached the championship match, following an appearance with Creighton in 2000.

The 2008 season was a tough one as the Cardinal suffered several key injuries and struggled offensively to finish with a 4-11-3 record, his first losing season since 2005.

In 2007, Stanford proved it was back on the upswing, earning Simon his 10th winning season in 13 years. Among the highlights of the 7-6-5 campaign was a 2-1-1 record against the top Pac-10 finishers, Cal and UCLA, and a double-overtime draw with defending national champion UC Santa Barbara.

During his first two seasons at Stanford, Simon had a combined record of 36-7-4, equaling the winningest two-year streak in the program's 94 years of existence.

The 2002 club finished with a 17-5-3 overall record on its way to an NCAA runner-up finish. Simon, who was a semifinalist for Far West Coach of the Year, led a hot team to four straight NCAA Tournament victories and six consecutive wins overall late in the season to reach the national championship game against UCLA.

In his rookie season at Stanford in 2001, Simon garnered two coach of the year honors when he was named the NSCAA/adidas Far West Regional Coach of the Year and Pac-10 Coach of the Year after leading the Cardinal to its first Pac-10 championship. Simon guided Stanford to its best overall record ever (19-2-1) as the club advanced to its second College Cup in program history and made its fifth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance.

Simon achieved his 100th career Division I win in his first season with the Cardinal, a 3-1 triumph over Cal State Fullerton on September 9, 2001.

Before coming to Stanford, Simon led Creighton to the 2000 NCAA final, completing an eight-year run in Omaha, the final six as head coach. His .769 winning percentage (96-26-8) remains the best in school history.

His final Bluejay team finished 22-4 and remains the program's most successful team. The team's appearance in the NCAA final was the first by any Creighton athletic squad. A four-time conference Coach of the Year honoree, Simon led the Bluejays to four postseason Missouri Valley Conference tournament championships, a pair of MVC regular-season titles and six NCAA Tournament appearances. Simon's 96 wins at the school ranks second on the Bluejays' all time list.

Among the players Simon coached from 1995-2000 were future U.S. national team players Richard Mulrooney and Brian Mullan, 1997 Hermann Trophy winner Johnny Torres, and two-time MLS All-Star Ross Paule. Altogether, Simon has coached four member of the national team: Mulrooney, Mullan, as well as ex-Stanford stars Dunivant and Marshall.

A 1980 graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, Simon earned his master's degree in business administration with an emphasis in marketing and management from Berry College in Mount Berry, Ga., in 1982. During a 13-year tenure at Berry, Simon was involved in numerous aspects of the athletic department including coaching, teaching, publicity and as the Vikings' athletic director. After six seasons as a Berry assistant, Simon compiled an 83-43-16 record as head coach of the NAIA school from 1986-92.

Simon, who was born on June 19, 1958, is married to the former Pam Gradoville, a Creighton Athletic Hall of Fame basketball player. They have two sons, Benjamin and Jacob.

COACHING STAFF

2009 STANFORD MEN'S SOCCER

Rob Becerra

Associate Head Coach
Fourth Year
Cal State San Bernardino '97

Rob Becerra begins his fourth season as an assistant coach and has helped Stanford establish itself as one of the strongest defenses in the Pac-10, giving up exactly a goal a game in the 54 matches since he arrived on the The Farm.

Under Becerra's tutelage, John Moore has developed into one of the Pac-10's premier keepers, being named to the all-conference teams in each of his first three seasons.

Becerra joined Stanford in 2006 after a successful head coaching stint at the University of Redlands, where he also served as assistant athletics director and an instructor in the Department of Physical Education.

During his eight years at Redlands, Becerra compiled a 126-28-8 record, and went 88-15-3 in SCIAC play. He enjoyed his 100th career win when the Bulldogs dismantled La Verne, 7-0, on September 25, 2004.

Redlands was on a dubious streak of 24 consecutive non-winning seasons before Becerra reversed the fortunes of the program in his second season, leading the Bulldogs to a 15-3-1 record in 1999.

A year later, Redlands broke into the NCAA Division III top-25 for the first time in history, with a No. 22 final national ranking. And it got even better.

In 2001, Becerra led the Bulldogs to their first conference title since 1967 and second in the program's history. The team rode the success to its first NCAA playoff appearance, where Becerra led the team all the way to the NCAA Division III final and was named All-Far West Region Coach of the Year.

The successful season was only the beginning for Becerra and Redlands, which won five consecutive Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles through 2005 and advanced to the Division III playoffs each season, advancing beyond the first round each time.

Becerra also is active with elite club and youth programs. He is a Region IV (Far West) coach in the Olympic Development Program and has served in similar roles with the Cal-South and New Mexico ODP elite programs.

On the local level, Becerra is the Director of Coaching and Curriculum for the Palo Alto Soccer Club, a 34-team youth organization.

As a player, Becerra starred as a goalkeeper at Cal State San Bernardino and went on to start for the Sacramento Scorpions of the United Systems of Independent Soccer Leagues in 1997 before embarking on a coaching career.

Becerra earned his bachelor of science in kinesiology from Cal State San Bernardino in 1997 and his master's in management from Redlands.

He enjoys playing a variety of sports during his free time and is an avid sports fan. He and his wife, Samantha, have two daughters, Emma and Julia.

Gregg Olson

Assistant Coach
Second Year
Vermont '00

Gregg Olson enters his second year at Stanford after coming from the University of Vermont where he served as the first assistant to the 2007 America East Conference champions.

The Catamounts reached the conference tournament during four of Olson's five seasons on the coaching staff, and advanced to the NCAA tournament his final season, reaching the second round for the second time in school history.

A native of Roscoe, Ill., Olson graduated in 2000 with a bachelor of science degree in geography from Vermont, where he was a four-year starter and team captain as a senior. Olson also was a three-time winner of the team's Donoson Fitzgerald Award for perseverance, integrity and sportsmanship.

Following college, Olson played for the Vermont Voltage of the Premier Development League before reaching the A-League, the top rung of the United Soccer Leagues minor-league system, with the Milwaukee Rampage.

Olson began his coaching career in 2002 at Hononegah Community High School in Rockton, Ill., before returning to the University of Vermont a year later. He spent five seasons with the Catamounts, being promoted to first assistant in May 2006.

Olson holds his NSCAA Advanced National and National Youth coaching diplomas and was the Vermont boys Under-17 Olympic Development Program Head Coach. He also served as an assistant coaching director for the Nordic Soccer Club.

Olson and his wife, Sarah, live in Menlo Park.

Dan Chamberlain

Volunteer Assistant Coach
First Year
UC Santa Cruz '03

Dan Chamberlain arrives at Stanford this year after spending three seasons as the head men's soccer coach at his alma mater UC Santa Cruz. He compiled a 44-14-2 record and twice led the Banana Slugs to the NCAA Division III playoffs.

In 2006, UCSC registered a national-leading 20 shutouts and led the nation in goals-against average while advancing to the NCAA Round of 16. In 2007, UCSC again reached the NCAA's and earned the Team Academic Award from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America for having a combined grade-point average of 3.0.

Chamberlain, who has earned a United States Soccer Federation 'B' coaching license, was a standout goalkeeper for the Banana Slugs under coach Paul Holocher. A 2003 graduate with a degree in earth sciences, Chamberlain spent the next two seasons as Holocher's assistant, before succeeding his former coach.

A native of Walnut Creek, Calif., Chamberlain starred at Acalanes High School in Lafayette, Calif., before starting all four years at UCSC. He earned NCAA All-Region honors as a senior while helping the Banana Slugs win the NCAA Western Regional title in 2003.

Chamberlain also served as Program Director for the Santa Cruz County-based Catalyst Soccer Player Development Program from 2006-08 and was Director of Goalkeeper for the Santa Cruz County Breakers club from 2005-08.

Chamberlain is working toward his master's in sport management from University of San Francisco. He and his wife Jill live in Redwood City.

Stanford University at a Glance

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country; many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold of greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

Nearly 116 years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanford's generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is less than hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few minutes north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, tremendous sports and recreation facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Australia, Beijing, Berlin, Cape Town, Florence, Kyoto, Madrid, Moscow, Oxford, Paris, and Santiago.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers 1,874 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. As of the June of 2009, the faculty included 16 Nobel Laureates, four Pulitzer Prize winners, 23 MacArthur Fellows, 19 recipients of the National Medal of Science, two National Medal of Technology recipients, 244 members of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, 136 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 83 National Academy of Engineering members, 46 American Philosophical Society members, 27 members of the National Academy of Education, eight Wolf Foundation Prize winners, six winners of the Koret Foundation Prize and three Presidential Medal of Freedom winners. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently, 15,140 students, of which 6,812 are undergraduates, study on campus. A little more than 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and 8 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, approximately 55 percent are African American, Asian American, International, Mexican American, Native American, Native Hawaiian or Other Hispanic in ethnicity. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished.

Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class with 89% of those admitted finishing in the top 10% of their high school class. Ninety-eight Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars, 78 have been selected Marshall Award winners, and 53 have been chosen Truman Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in many community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 35 Division I varsity sports. Of Stanford's 97 NCAA titles (111 national), 57 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Forty-nine Stanford-affiliated athletes competed in the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, collecting a school-record 25 medals (eight gold, 13 silver and four bronze. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,300 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program is more than 4,600, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care."

Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day . . . At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Bob Bowsby

The Jaquish & Kenninger
Director of Athletics

One of the most respected athletic administrators in the nation, Bob Bowsby enters his fourth full year as the Jaquish & Kenninger Director of Athletics at Stanford University, a position he was appointed to on April 25, 2006 after spending 15 years at the helm of the University of Iowa's athletic program.

In his initial three years in the position, Stanford has continued its well-earned reputation of fielding the most successful and wide-ranging Division I-A athletic programs in the nation.

As Stanford's sixth athletic director, Bowsby succeeds Ted Leland (1991-2005), Andy Geiger (1979-90), Joe Ruetz (1972-78), Chuck Taylor (1963-71) and Al Masters (1925-63). He directs a department that includes 35 intercollegiate varsity teams – 15 men's, 19 women's and one coed – plus the physical education department, intramurals, club sports, open recreation and the Stanford Golf Course.

Under his administrative guidance, Stanford claimed its unprecedented 15th straight Learfield Sports Director's Cup last spring, emblematic of the top overall program in the country. Ten Stanford teams boasted Top 10 finishes, winning national championships in men's gymnastics and women's rowing.

Stanford's student-athletes were also highly-decorated last year. Folukey Akinradewo (women's volleyball) earned her second straight national player of the year honor while eight student-athletes earned conference player of the year marks. In addition, Erik Shoji men's volleyball earned national freshmen of the year accolades.

Two Stanford coaches--Thom Glielmi (men's gymnastics) and Yaz Farooq (women's rowing) earned national coach of the year marks.

Throughout his career, Bowsby has emerged as a national leader in intercollegiate and amateur athletics. He was named in February, 2007, to the United States Olympic Committee Board of Directors.

He has previously served as President of the NCAA Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association (2002-03), Chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee for two years (2003-05) and a committee member for five years, Chair of the Big Ten Administrator's Council (2002-04) and Chair of the NCAA Management Council.

Bowsby was appointed by President George Bush as a member of the Commission on Opportunities in Athletics in 2002-03. The committee was led by U.S. Secretary of Education Rod Paige.

Bowsby was elected chair of the NCAA Olympic Sports Liaison Committee and represented the NCAA as one of two voting members on the United States Olympic Committee Board of Directors. He served as a member of the NCAA/U.S. Olympic Committee Task Force chaired by Cedric Dempsey and George Steinbrenner.

In addition, Bowsby served as chair of the NCAA Wrestling Committee and has served on NCAA committees on Financial Aid and Amateurism, the Special Committee to Review Amateurism Issues and the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Athletics.

Bowsby has also served as an Executive Committee member with both the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and served as President of the I-A organization for two years.

The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) named Bowsby in 2001-02 as Central Region Athletic Director of the Year and Sports Business Journal selected him from the four regional award winners as the National Athletics Director of the Year. The award highlights the efforts of the athletic directors for their commitment and positive contributions to campuses and their surrounding communities.

As the chief administrator for Iowa's athletic department from 1991-2006, Bowsby earned a reputation as one of the most admired, energetic and ambitious athletic administrators in the nation. Bowsby guided and supervised the merger of the Hawkeye's women's and men's athletics departments while enabling Iowa to maintain its standing as one of the most visible and successful Division I athletic programs.

Under his leadership, Iowa enjoyed unprecedented success and growth in the area of fund raising and facilities. Bowsby and the UI Development staff put in place $25 million in endowments to help support Hawkeye student-athlete scholarship aid. In addition, he managed the planning and construction of $120 million in facility projects on campus, including an $87 million renovation to Kinnick Stadium.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, Bowsby became Iowa's 10th Athletic Director in June, 1991, after serving in the same role at the University of Northern Iowa since 1984. Bowsby earned his bachelor's degree from Moorhead State University (Minnesota) in 1975 and his master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1978.

Bob and his wife, Candice, have four children: Lisa, Matt, Rachel and Kyle.

Principles That Guide Us

Department of Athletics, Physical Education, and Recreation

Department of Athletics, Physical Education, and Recreation

MISSION STATEMENT

From its founding in 1891, Stanford University's leaders have believed that physical activity is valuable for its own sake and that vigorous exercise is complementary to the educational purposes of the university. Within this context for human development, it is the mission of Stanford's Department of Athletics, Physical Education and Recreation to offer a wide range of high quality programs which will encourage and facilitate all participants to realize opportunities for championship athletic participation, physical fitness, health and well being.

We Will Teach

- By encouraging our student-athletes to capture all the joy, power and extraordinary personal growth that comes to those who compete and support athletic excellence.
- By hiring and retaining the best coaches and staff members available and arming them with the tools to achieve at the highest level.
- By fostering and nurturing a coaching, physical education and recreation staff that is committed to teaching with integrity & ambition and that performs in a manner which is consistent with the academic priorities of Stanford University.
- By recognizing the need to work as a team while valuing each individual's unique characteristics and abilities.

- By committing ourselves to the personal development and well being of our student-athletes and staff. Those who participate at all levels will learn the benefits of teamwork, discipline, goal setting, physical fitness, healthy lifestyles, character development, self confidence, sportsmanship, and an appreciation for lifelong learning.

We Will Lead

- By being the model of success, of universal opportunity, and of unwavering commitment to the ideal of the scholar-athlete.
- By operating with integrity as we follow the spirit and the letter of each rule. Integrity will be displayed in our policies, performances and programs.
- By continuing our long history of conference and national prominence through a commitment to cutting edge involvement in athletic issues.

We Will Win

- By maximizing our effort in every competition, on every team and in every setting where skill, determination and hard work combine to achieve singularly successful results.
- By having an uncompromising commitment to Conference and National championships and by providing each student-athlete with the tools necessary to be successful at the highest levels of both academic and athletic performance.

- By creating a commitment to a university-wide wellness culture that will allow Stanford students, faculty and staff to maximize their health and fitness opportunities throughout their lives.

We Will Serve

- By respecting, honoring and responding to the needs of our student-athletes, coaches, colleagues, advocates and members of our larger community.
- By encouraging innovation and creativity. We will harness technology to extend our reach and to interface with our various internal and external constituencies.
- Through fiscal responsibility in all elements of departmental operations.
- By advancing outreach as a fundamental component of the department, we will strive to enhance the overall mission of the University through competitive excellence, effective outreach and an on-going commitment to customer service.
- By utilizing the department resources and physical facilities to serve the campus community, our alumni and our supporters throughout the world.
- By valuing our heritage, and in doing so we commit ourselves to championship caliber athletic achievement and the on-going enhancement of the traditions of Stanford Athletics, including leadership, individual and team achievement & intense pride and loyalty.
