STANFORD UNIVERSITY THE NATION'S PREMIER UNIVERSITY

The world all at once: Limitless possibilities are at the heart of Stanford University.

Global positioning systems and gene splicing, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest and The Grapes of Wrath, the football huddle and the T-formation, Yahoo! and Google—all bear the mark of a Stanford individual. At Stanford, you will find the entire universe of what humankind knows and is endeavoring to know. From your first days on campus, this universe will be yours to explore, yours to discover. Stanford will ask that intellectual curiosity be your compass, that excellence be your true north.

Along the way, you will have the guidance of extraordinary faculty mentors who are at the forefront of advancing the world's understanding of subjects ranging from geophysics to history to bioscience to musical composition. You will also have the friendship of fellow students who will awe and inspire you as much for their humanity as for their talents. As you pursue the questions that interest you most, your mentors and friends will give you the freedom to risk temporary failure as you push yourself both intellectually and personally—along with the freedom and encouragement to pursue what you love.

Your reward will be the exhilaration of discovery—the exhilaration of true excellence.

AVERY AQUATIC CENTER

If Stanford Athletics is "Home of Champions," then one can argue the most prolific room in the house is the Avery Aquatic Center. Since opening in its current form in 2001, the magnificent facility has seen a trio of NCAA team champions, 41* individual NCAA titles, 12* Pacific-10 Conference team champions, 135 individual Pac-10 titles, five MPSF team winners, four U.S. Collegiate team champs, 20 U.S. Collegiate individual titles and 33 Stanford Olympians grace its waters in the sports of men's and women's swimming and diving, men's and women's water polo and synchronized swimming.

Widely considered the finest outdoor swimming and diving facility in the United States – and perhaps the world – Avery Aquatic Center welcomed the 2008 USA Olympic Swimming Team prior to the Beijing Olympics, after having also played host to the country's Olympic swimmers before the 2004 Athens Games. 2004 also saw the facility house both the Summer Junior and Senior Nationals, while 2006 brought an international flavor with the FINA Masters World Championships – which featured 7,200 athletes from 75 different countries competing in all five aquatic disciplines. America's best divers came to The Farm in the summer of 2007 for the Kaiser Permanente National Diving Championships, while 2009 will feature the U.S. National Synchronized Swimming Championships.

Initially christened the deGuerre Pool Complex after Dorothy and Sidney deGuerre, the original facility was completed in 1972. In May 1999, an extensive renovation and expansion began that would ensure a world-class home for Stanford Aquatics well into the future. Behind these efforts were the generosity and passion for water sports of Burt and Marion "Pete" Avery and their family.

As it stands today, Avery Aquatic Center features four separate pools: the Avery Competition Pool, the Maas Diving Center, the Belardi Pool and the Baker Pool. The main attraction is the Competition Pool, which can hold up to 2,530 fans (2,480 fixed seating) and hosts all of Stanford's swimming, water polo and synchronized swimming events. One of the fastest pools in the nation, the Competition Pool is 37 meters long and 20 meters wide, tapers from 11 to 14 feet deep and features dual one-meter and three-meter Maxiflex springboards on the south end.

Avery Aquatic Center also houses the Maas Diving Center, which stands as the finest outdoor diving facility in the country. Stanford student-athletes, along with divers from around the world, are treated to a concrete dive tower with platforms at 1, 3, 5, 6 and 10 meters. The dive platforms are covered in Mondo Surfacing, while the tower is flanked on each side by dual one-meter and three-meter Maxiflex springboards.

Complementing the two world-class competition areas are a pair of top-rate training pools which offer Stanford student-athletes and coaches tremendous flexibility when designing training programs. The Belardi Pool is 50 meters long, 25 meters wide and tapers to a depth of 11 feet in the center, while the Baker Pool is 50 also meters long, but 25 yards wide and with a varying depth of 4 ½ to 5 ½ feet.

Stanford's many student-athletes in the aquatic disciplines have four locker rooms at their disposal. The Sandy Foundation Men's Team Room and the Harold A. Miller Women's Team Room were each refurbished in 1996 by Joan and Mel Lane, while the new Men's Timkin Room and the Women's Team Room were completed in 2000.

The many fans of Cardinal aquatics can keep track of the meets, events and games via a Daktronics scoreboard on the north end of the Avery Competition Pool.

Avery Aquatic Center is truly among the best facilities in the world, and ensures that Stanford University and Cardinal student-athletes will be at the forefront of the aquatics world well into the future.

COACHING STAFF

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Skip Kenney

Head Coach
31st Season
Long Beach '72

- 3-Time Olympic Coach
- 6-Time NCAA Coach of the Year
- 19-Time Pac-10 Coach of the Year

Over the past 30 years Skip Kenney has developed some of the top swimmers in the world. A testament to his accomplishments is the fact he stands alone amongst his peers in regards to team and individual accomplishments throughout his three decades of service at Stanford. He has coached with multiple Olympic teams and been on the forefront in developing young men both in and out of the water. In 2004, he was inducted into the International Swimming Hall of Fame, and a year later he was elected into the American Swim Coaches Hall of Fame.

Kenney has led the Cardinal to seven NCAA titles, including a runaway win in 1998. He has also been named NCAA Coach of the Year six times (1982, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1992, 1998). In addition, Kenney has led the Cardinal to some of the finest team performances in the history of the NCAA Championship meet. He has also been named Pac-10 Coach of the Year a record 20 times (1983, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, 1991, 1992, 1994, 1995, 1997, 1998, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2009).

The 1992 squad set NCAA meet records for points scored (632) and victory margin (276 points over Texas), and the 1998 team became the first to have a championship final representative in every individual and relay swimming event. He has also coached a total of 129 All-Americans to 978 All-American honors, and has developed 67 NCAA Champions. Even more impressive, in the 30 years as a head coach, the Cardinal has finished in the top-three 25 times and never lower than fourth since 1982.

Kenney has turned Stanford into a perennial contender since his arrival. Prior to his arrival, Stanford had won just one national title (1967) and finished third another three times from 1936 to 1980. Of the 59 conference championship teams since 1916-17, nearly half (28) have come since Kenney's arrival—all in a row. Prior to winning its first conference title in 1982, Stanford had not been atop the conference since 1958-59.

Kenney's achievements as head coach at Stanford are unparalleled in Pac-10 history. His 28 consecutive conference titles stands as the record for consecutive Pac-10 championships in any sport. The Cardinal broke the conference record for consecutive titles, established by UCLA men's basketball under John Wooden, in 1995 when it captured its 14th consecutive title.

Skip Kenney with 1992 seniors Andy Lloyd, Alex Kostich and Jeff Rouse.

Another major achievement is that 100 percent of Kenney's student-athletes have earned their degrees. Also, 10 athletes since 1983 have been named CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, a list that includes three-time recipient and Olympian Pablo Morales, and fellow Olympians Ray Carey, Kurt Grote and Ben Wildman-Tobriner.

Kenney is also one of the top coaches on the international circuit. He was named men's coach for the U.S. team at the 2004 Short Course World Championships held in Indianapolis. He also served as head coach of the U.S. men's team at the 1996 Olympics, and was an assistant coach at both the 1984 and 1988 Olympics. He has also served as U.S. national team coach at many other world championships, Pan-American Games and Pan-Pacific Championships.

During his tenure, his list of former athletes is a who's who of the swimming world: Randall Bal (2007 Pan American Games Medalist, 2007 Japan International Swim Meet medalist), Dave Bottom (former American record holder), Ray Carey (1996 U.S. Olympian), Andy Grant (Gold and two-time silver medalist at 2007 Pan American Games) Kurt Grote (1996 Olympic Gold Medalist), Jeff Kostoff (1984 and 1988 U.S. Olympian, former American record holder), Peter Marshall (2007 Pan American Games Medalist, World record holder), John Moffet (1980 and 1984 U.S. Olympian, former world record holder), Pablo Morales (three-time Olympic Gold Medalist and former world record holder), Jay Mortensen (1988 U.S. Olympian), Anthony Mosse (1988 Olympic Bronze Medalist), Sean Murphy (1988 Canadian Olympian), Eddie Parenti (1992 and 1996 Canadian Olympian), Brian Retterer (former American record holder), Markus Rogan (Three-time Austrian Olympian, a world record holder in the 200 backstroke, a two-time Olympic silver medalist in 2004, and a 2007 World University Games Medalist), Jeff Rouse (1992 and 1996 Olympic Gold Medalist, world record holder), John Simons (1980 U.S. Olympian), Dave Sims (1980 U.S. Olympian), Ben Wildman-Tobriner (2008 Olympic Gold Medalist in the 400 free relay, 2007 two-time gold medalist at FINA World Championships, Former American record holder), Derek Weatherford (American record holder), and Tom Wilkens (2000 U.S. Olympian).

In 30 years as the head coach at Stanford, Kenney has posted a 222-38 (.854) overall record, including a 125-8 record (.940) over the past 15 years. Since the 2000-01 season, Stanford has lost just three times in dual meets, going 61-3. The team has finished second or third nationally in each of the last nine seasons. Over a 14-year span from 1984 until 1998, the Cardinal won seven national titles, three-peat from 1985 to 1987 and from 1992 to 1994.

Kenney's first national championship team in 1985 featured Olympians Pablo Morales, John Moffet and Jeff Kostoff, winning an unprecedented eight events. Morales, a sophomore at the time, won three of his 11 NCAA titles that year. In 1986, it was a lopsided affair, as the Cardinal beat Cal 404-335, taking home six individual titles. Kenney was named NCAA Coach of the Year for the second straight year, and third time in five seasons. The team's 1987 title was the curtain call for Morales and Kostoff, both seniors, as the Cardinal won five individual titles. The Cardinal dominated the field and routed second place USC by 78 points.

UCLA's basketball coaching legend John Wooden presents the Pac-10 Swimming and Diving Championship trophy to Skip Kenney after the Cardinal team broke the Bruins' men's basketball team record for consecutive Pac-10 titles with 14.

The next three-peat occurred from 1992 to 1994. In 1992, Stanford scored a record 632 points, smoking Texas by 276 points for its fourth title in eight years. At the meet alone, Cardinal swimmers set seven American records as it marked the first time a program had swept all five relays. A repeat was on in 1993, as the Cardinal came to the Championships following its 12th-straight Pac-10 title. The Cardinal came away with three individual titles and three relay titles. In 1994, Stanford racked up 566.5 points to beat Texas, winning five individual titles and three more relays. The Class of 1994 established itself as the best group of swimmers in the history of the sport.

Stanford again ran away from the rest of the field, finishing with 599 points in 1998, the second-most in school history. The Cardinal had a finalist in each of the 18 finals, winning eight of them.

Kenney began his career on The Farm in August 1979, taking three seasons to set the school-record for dual victories (11-2). He then posted the first undefeated season (14-0) in nearly two decades in 1982-83, as he ascended the national ladder. He finished 10th at his first NCAA Championship in 1980, ninth in his second, before finishing third in his third season at the helm.

A 1972 graduate of Long Beach State, Kenney was an assistant for his alma mater from 1968 to 1971, before heading the Harvard program from 1971 to 1972. His career then led to the Dads AAU Club in Houston from 1972 to 1976, before coaching the famous Cincinnati Pepsi Marlins AAU club team for three seasons from 1977 to 1979. The Marlins placed fourth (1977) and fifth (1978) nationally at the AAU Championships during his tenure. He was twice named Coach of the Year by the Ohio AAU Association.

Kenney was inducted into the Fresno Athletic Hall of Fame in 1994-95 in recognition of his accomplishments in the men's swimming arena.

Kenney has two children, Kristine and Richard.

COACHING STAFF

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Ted Knapp

Associate Head Coach
26th Season
Stanford '81

Ted Knapp enters his 26th season with the Cardinal and ninth as the associate head coach. Since coming to The Farm, Knapp has played an influential role in Stanford capturing seven NCAA championships and a Pac-10 title in every year that he has been a coach.

Knapp assists in all phases of the program, including daily workouts, team travel, and is involved in all swim recruiting. In addition, he supervises all dry-land training and the team's strength program.

Knapp was named as the assistant manager at the 2005 U.S. World Championships in Montreal, Canada and at the 2007 U.S. World Championships in Melbourne, Australia. He was also the head men's manager to the 2008 U.S. Olympic Team.

Over his tenure on The Farm, Knapp has coached 10 different swimmers, who have set 20 world records, including recent graduate Paul Kornfeld, who helped set the world record in the 400 medley relay, swimming the breaststroke for Canada in the summer of 2009.

He has also coached 19 Olympians, representing eight countries. At the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, David and Jason Dunford, Phillip Morrison, Tobias Oriwol and Ben Wildman-Tobriner all represented their countries. Former Olympians have included Pablo Morales, a three-time gold medalist in the 1980's and 1990's; Jeff Rouse, a three-time gold medalist over two Olympics in 1992 and 1996; two-time Olympian and two-time silver medalist Markus Rogan this decade; and Wildman-Tobriner, who won gold in Beijing in 2008.

He has coached 27 NCAA Champions, totaling 65 individual titles, most recently Austin Staab, who was the 2009 100 butterfly champion and set an American record at the event. Morales accumulated a Stanford record 235 points in the mid 1980s, as well as 11 individual titles.

A 1981 graduate of Stanford with a B.S. in civil engineering, Knapp was a four-year letterman, specializing in the freestyle events. In his junior season (1979-80), Knapp earned All-American status as he anchored the Cardinal 400 medley relay squad to an 11th place finish at the NCAA Championships. A competitive swimmer for 13 years before entering the coaching profession, Knapp also participated in the 1980 U.S. Olympic trials.

Ted and his wife, Laurie, reside in Menlo Park. They have two college-aged children. Ellen is an English major at Santa Clara University and Sam is currently a freshman on the Cardinal football team after an all-league career in high school.

Rick has, with cooperation from the Stanford Sports Medicine Center, provided rehabilitation consulting and meet preparation services to the team for more than 24 years. Rick is a former Stanford athlete, lettering in swimming and water polo a combined eight times. He earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Stanford. Currently he is the majority partner in a local Physical Therapy practice. He is widely published in the field of Physical Therapy and aquatic rehabilitation. Additional responsibilities include membership to the Sports Medicine Committee and Vice Chairmanship of The Sports Society Network for USA Swimming.

Head Diving Coach
32nd Season
New Hampshire '71

One of the nation's premier diving instructors, Dr. Rick Schavone begins his 32nd season as the head coach for Stanford's diving program in 2009-10. Throughout his illustrious career on The Farm, he has molded Stanford into one of the top all-around diving programs in the nation. A three-time NCAA Diving Coach of the Year (1992, 1993 and 2007), Schavone is also a six-time recipient of the Pac-10 Diving Coach of the Year award (1995, 1997, 1999, 2000, 2007 and 2008).

Over his first 31 seasons at the helm, Schavone has coached his men's and women's divers to a total of eight individual NCAA championships, 38 individual Pac-10 titles and 87 All-America honors. He has had at least one All-American on the women's side for 15 straight seasons and in 26 of his last 27 years. Schavone has also tutored a pair of NCAA Divers of the Year in Eileen Richetelli (1992 and 1993) and Cassidy Krug (2007), while guiding five Pac-10 Divers of the Year (Richetelli in 1995, Kim Powers in 1999, Erin Sones in 2000, Krug in 2007 and Meg Hostage in 2008).

Schavone added yet another impressive season to his stellar resume in 2007-08, highlighted by the performance of freshman Meg Hostage. Hostage became Stanford's first freshman diver ever to earn Pac-10 Diver of the Year accolades, while she was also named the Pac-10's Diving Newcomer of the Year after capturing the conference title in the 3-meter competition. Sarah Ohr gave Schavone and the Cardinal a pair of conference champions when she captured the 1-meter title at the Pac-10 Championships.

Schavone's record of two or more All-America honors earned by his divers was extended to 13 consecutive seasons in 2009.

One of Schavone's biggest seasons was in 2006-07, when he was named both the Pac-10 and NCAA Diving Coach of the Year. He guided Krug to an undefeated championship season in 2007, as she swept the 1-meter and 3-meter boards at the Pac-10 Championships, NCAA Zone E Championships and NCAA Championships. Krug was also named NCAA and Pac-10 Diver of the Year. Schavone also coached Krug to a first place finish in the 3-meter at the 2007 U.S. summer senior nationals after a fourth-place effort in 2006 and a seventh-place showing on the 3-meter at the 2006 FINA Diving World Cup in China.

In addition to Krug's two national titles in 2007, Sones also earned an NCAA crown in platform diving in 2001. The last nine campaigns have seen Stanford divers earn nine Pac-10 championships - four in the 1-meter event (Dwight Dumais in 2009, Krug in 2004 and '07, and Ohr in 2008), three in the 3-meter competition (Sones in 2000, Krug in 2007 and Hostage in 2008) and two on the platform (Carmen Stellar in 2009 and Sones in 2001).

Sones (Diver of the Year) and McKenzie Murphy (Diving Newcomer of the Year) combined to give Schavone's divers a sweep of the 2000 Pac-10 diving awards, while Krug (2004-07) and Ashlee Rosenthal (2001-05) became just the third and fourth divers in Stanford history, respectively, to earn All-American honors all four years on The Farm.

Schavone's crew had an excellent showing in 1997-98 when Stanford had women's divers place in the top eight in all three events at the NCAA Championships to help the Cardinal win its most recent national title.

In 1996-97, his women's divers also earned All-America honors in all three events to make him Pac-10 Women's Diving Coach of the Year. Schavone was named both the men's and women's Pac-10 Diving Coach of the Year in 1994-95 as Stanford divers David Johns and Eileen Richetelli earned the conference's Male and Female Diver of the Year honors, respectively. Richetelli finished her career with five national titles, and 11 All-America honors, just one shy of the maximum 12 possible in a collegiate career.

The women's diving corps proved to be the deciding factor during the Cardinal's run to its fourth straight national title in 1994-95 as Stanford divers accounted for 64 team points while runner-up Michigan did not enter a diver. Stanford ended up winning the meet with 497.5 points and Michigan placed second at 478.5.

In addition to his work on the Stanford campus, Schavone has served as the head coach for several United States diving teams. The top events he has coached in have included the 2006 FINA World Cup in China, competitions in Rome and Vienna with the U.S. National Team in 1999, the 1997 World University Games in Sicily, and the 1990 Goodwill Games. He has also headed the U.S. National Team at the 1993 World University Games, four World Age Group Championships (1984, '87, '88, '89) and the 1985 European Youth Championships in Aachen, Germany.

Schavone is one of the few coaches nationwide who has coached at the last six U.S. Olympic trials in 1988, 1992, 1996, 2000, 2004 and 2008. In the summer of 1995, he traveled with the U.S. National Team to China and served as a coach at the World Cup in Atlanta. In 2007, he helped host the U.S. summer senior nationals at Stanford's Maas Family Diving Center.

Schavone has also held many positions with USA Diving. He received the prestigious Coaches' Whosam Award in 2003, given annually to a coach that adheres to the highest standards of physical and mental well-being. The award is given annually in honor of Sammy Lee, a 1948 and 1952 Olympic gold medalist, and long-time diving coach. Schavone has also developed Stanford Diving into one of the top age group diving programs in the nation, coaching eight age group national champions. He was selected as USA Diving's 1984 Coach of the Year, an award that honored his work with divers between the ages of 12-17.

One of the few Ph.D. holders in his profession, Schavone was introduced to Stanford diving as a graduate assistant to veteran coach Clyde Devine in 1975. Schavone was named head diving coach on The Farm in 1977 and completed his Ph.D. at Stanford in 1978. After leaving Stanford to become the head diving coach at Princeton for one season (1978-79), he returned at the beginning of the 1979-80 campaign.

A 1971 graduate of the University of New Hampshire, Schavone is single and resides on the Stanford campus.

Ranked first in the national polls for most of the season, Stanford (8-0, 6-0 Pac-10) captured its 29th consecutive conference title and finished third at the NCAA Championships.

The Cardinal parlayed that success into a successful summer, where the team combined to compete at nine meets in six countries, winning 12 golds, nine silvers and six bronze medals. Three athletes from last year's squad, David and Jason Dunford and Paul Kornfeld, swam at the World Aquatic Championships in Rome, where Jason finished sixth in the 50 and 100 butterfly. Another nine current or former swimmers were at the World University Games, where freshman Chad La Tourette won a gold and two silver medals and Jason Dunford, a senior, won a gold, silver and bronze medal.

At the NCAA Championships in March, sophomore Austin Staab won the individual title in the 100 butterfly and was named an All-American seven times, while Jason Dunford finished off his career with five more All-America honors (19 total), finishing with 57 total points over four NCAA Championships. Fellow senior, Kornfeld, was an All-American in the 100 and 200 breaststrokes for the fourth-straight year, finishing with 132 points, 16th-best all-time. Staab, with 62 points and junior Eugene Godsoe, with 60 points, both enter the 2009-10 season in the top-50 in Stanford history in career points. Godsoe was named an All-American five more times, upping his total to 10. Freshman Bobby Bollier also had a successful meet, winning the Pac-10 title in the 200 butterfly, and taking home four All-America certificates. Junior Alex Coville earned six All-America awards. In diving, Dwight Dumais was an All-American for the first time in the 3-meter, and also earned a spot in the one-meter for the third season, after winning the Pac-10, 1-meter title.

After winning the conference title, La Tourette and head coach Skip Kenney earned the Pac-10's Newcomer of the Year and Coach of the Year, respectively. La Tourette was the second straight Cardinal to be named Pac-10 Newcomer of the Year and the fourth overall. The Mission Viejo, Calif., native captured the Pac-10 title in the 1,650 free by recording the third-fastest time in Stanford history (14:39.01) and finishing more than five seconds faster than the event's runner-up. The freshman was the Cardinal's top finisher in the 500 free, placing third with a time of 4:16.29. At the NCAA Championships, La Tourette broke the school's 1,650 free record with a time of 14:33.55 to finish as the NCAA runner-up.

For Kenney, it was his ninth straight top-three finish and the 28th consecutive top-four showing for the Cardinal. It also marked the 20th Pac-10 Men's Swimming Coach of the Year honor of Kenney's career.

In the classroom, Jason Dunford was named the Pac-10's Men's Swimming Scholar Athlete of the Year, earning a spot on the all-academic team for the third time. David Dunford was also an all-academic honoree, along with: Nate Class, BJ Johnson and Scott Lathrope. Second team members included: Josh Charnin-Aker, Eugene Godsoe, Scotty Korotkin, Phillip Morrison, David Mosko, Dan Priestley, Andrew Trepp and Paul Zaich.

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Skip Kenney's first Stanford recruiting class (1979-80) helped set the stage for continued success, starting with the 1985 NCAA title (right), and included a Pac-10 title streak which began in 1982.

Stanford University has had a hand in the fortunes of United States swimming and diving for more than 86 years. The Cardinal has a long tradition of top finishes at the collegiate level as well as developing swimmers and divers who are competitive on the international scene.

Individual collegiate accomplishments have been remarkable over the years with the Cardinal winning 135 individual (including relays) NCAA Championships. Pablo Morales, one of the heroes of the 1992 Olympic Games, finished his storied career with 11 NCAA individual titles, making him the all-time leader in that category.

Numbered among the ranks of Stanford swimming alumni are NCAA champions, Olympic gold medalists and World Record holders. Cardinal men have stockpiled a total of 23 gold, 12 silver and eight bronze in 88 years of Olympic competition.

During the 1984 Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles, three Cardinal men; Pablo Morales, Jeff Kostoff and John Moffet, represented the United States. Morales won a gold and two silvers. At the 1988 Games in Seoul, Jay Mortenson was awarded a gold medal as part of the U.S. 400-meter medley relay team, and Anthony Mosse won a bronze in the 200-meter fly for New Zealand.

In the 1992 Games in Barcelona, just-graduated senior Jeff Rouse won a gold in the 400-meter medley relay (setting a world record in the process) and a silver in the 100-meter backstroke.

Dave Bottom, Pablo Morales, John Moffet and Jeff Kostoff were among Stanford's most decorated swimmers on every level.

In addition, Morales won a pair of golds, including one in the 100-meter fly in one of the most memorable Olympic swims of all time, and another in the 400-meter medley relay. Then-incoming frosh Joe Hudepohl won a gold in the 400-meter free relay and a bronze in the 800-meter free relay.

The Stanford connection continued at the 1996 Summer Olympics in Atlanta, with both Cardinal men's coach Skip Kenney and former women's coach Richard Quick serving as the U.S. Olympic Team head coaches. Stanford swimmer Jeff Rouse won a pair of gold medals in the 100-meter backstroke and the 400-meter medley relay. Cardinal swimmer Kurt Grote also captured a gold in the 400-meter medley relay as well as competing in the 100- and 200-meter breaststroke. Joe Hudepohl returned to his second Olympics as well, capturing a gold in the 800-meter free relay.

Tom Wilkens represented the United States at the 2000 Olympic Games and captured the bronze medal in the 200 meter IM.

In the 2004 Summer Olympic Games in Athens, Greece, Cardinal swimmer Markus Rogan brought home silver in both the 100-meter and 200-meter backstroke.

Many U.S. and other national and international championships have been won by Cardinal swimmers, during their scholastic career or thereafter.

In 2008, the Cardinal had a total of six current and former swimmers competing in the Beijing Olympics. In the 400-meter free relay, Ben Wildman-Tobner was a part of the team that won the gold medal. Jason Dunford also made history in the heats of the 100-meter butterfly when he set an Olympic Record, a record that was broken later in the competition.

Stanford has won eight NCAA team championships in its illustrious history, including three straight on two separate occasions: 1985-87 and 1992-94. The 1967 Stanford team won the national championship with 1968 Olympic silver medalist Greg Buckingham, team captain Jim Laney, Mike Wall, and Dick Lane leading the way.

From 1985-87, Stanford sat alone atop the collegiate swimming world, capturing three consecutive NCAA titles. With talents such as Morales, Moffet, Kostoff, Mosse, Mortenson, Dave Bottom, David Lundberg and Sean Murphy spearheading Stanford's powerhouse teams, the Cardinal earned the reputation as the top collegiate men's swimming program in the country.

Along with Morales' 11 individual NCAA titles, Kostoff and Moffet both took home five NCAA crowns while Tom Wilkens won four and Murphy and Mortenson both captured three. In 1992, Stanford won the NCAA title by the widest margin in history with the likes of meet MVP Jeff Rouse, who won three events, and Erik Maurer leading the way. The Cardinal also became the first team ever to win all five relays at the NCAA Championships.

In 1993 Stanford won its second consecutive NCAA title and 12th consecutive Pac-10 crown. The Cardinal also captured three individual titles and three relay titles at the NAAs. Tyler Mayfield won the 100 breast, Ray Carey the 200 fly and Derek Weatherford the 100 back. In the relays, Stanford captured the 200 and 400 freestyle and 400 medley.

The 1994 team was led by a group of young men, recruited together, who scored the most points as seniors at the NCAAs. The team took its third consecutive title under this leadership and grabbed seven NCAA titles in all (four individual and three relay). Brian Retterer led the troops with an American record-breaking performance in the 100 back with a time of 45.74.

"If you win the NCAA's next year," said Stanford President Don Kennedy during the team's photo shoot in 1986, "I'll wear the swim suit and you can wear the suit and tie." The now-famous promise was kept after Stanford won a third straight title.

Retterer shattered his own mark in the 100 back (45.43) at the 1995 NCAAs to lead the Cardinal to a second-place finish. Stanford also won its 14th consecutive Pac-10 title in 1995, which broke the conference record for consecutive titles (13) that had been set by UCLA's men's basketball teams in the John Wooden era. The Cardinal has since extended the streak to 28 with a win at Pac-10s in 2009.

In 1998, Stanford dethroned defending champion Auburn in the Tigers' home pool. Tom Wilkens won all three individual events in which he entered to lead the Cardinal to a resounding 599-394.5 win over second-place Auburn. The national title was the Cardinal's seventh under Kenney in the last 14 years. In fact, the Cardinal has finished no lower than fourth nationally since 1981.

The Stanford diving program, under veteran head coach Dr. Rick Schavone, is considered to be among the very finest in the nation. Dr. Schavone also heads the Stanford age-group diving program, where he has coached several age-group national champions. He is lauded for his ability to develop an athlete's potential in both the springboard and platform diving events.

The tradition of excellence in Stanford swimming is firmly rooted in the history of the program. Winning and Stanford swimming have become almost synonymous. A dedication to excellence and discipline has made Stanford a household name in the swimming world.

Joe Hudepohl, Kurt Grote, Brian Retterer and Sabir Muhammad captured the 1995 NCAA 400 medley relay title, setting a new American record.

1967 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

When Tom Haynie resigned at the end of the 1960 season to take a teaching and coaching position in Honolulu, Al Masters immediately made another of his wise decisions, appointing Jim Gaughran, who had been a swimming and water polo star under Haynie for three years in 1952-54.

Late in the evening of Saturday, March 25, 1967, a dream, a plan and many hours of hard work over a period of more than a quarter of a century culminated in an NCAA Swimming Championship for Stanford at the pool of Michigan State University in East Lansing. The Indians of Jim Gaughran had just scored 275 points to beat out USC with 260 and end years of frustration, gaining sweet revenge on the Trojans for two events which had occurred earlier in the season.

On February 18, in Encina Pools, Southern California had come from behind in the final event of the afternoon, the 400 yard free relay, to tie Stanford 52-52, in one of the greatest dual meets ever held; on March 4, in Eugene, Oregon, those same pesky Trojans had edged Stanford 265 to 213 for the AAWU championship. But this time, Gaughran's staunch men were not to be denied.

Practically every man on the squad came through in fine style, but leaders in the point scoring were the great Greg Buckingham, Dick Roth and Mike Wall. Buck won the 200 and 500 freestyle races, placed second in the 1650 yard event and swam the anchor lap on the winning 800 free relay. His marks of 1:41.46 and 4:37.16 in the 200 and 500, respectively, were both NCAA and American records.

Buckingham, who teamed with Roth, Pete Siebert and Mike Wall, swam his lap in 1:40.80. Roth nearly duplicated Buck's brilliant performance with first places in the 200 and 400 individual medley, a sixth in the 200 yard backstroke and a lap on the winning 800 free relay.

Wall was another busy young man who, in addition to swimming a lap on the record breaking 800 free relay, placed third in the 1650 free, fifth in the 200 free and sixth in the 500 free. Buckingham,

Roth and Wall each swam seven or eight races during the three days of the meet. Pete Siebert was another important contributor with a third and fifth in the 200 and 400 individual medleys, respectively, and a lap on the 800 free relay.

Captain Jim Laney and Luis Nicolao, the Argentine pixie, weren't exactly loafing either. Jim anchored both the 400 freestyle and 400 medley relays, the former to another double record-breaking victory in 3:05.00, and the latter to a solid fourth place. In the 500, Laney held off Don Schollander and Don Havens, both national champions and two of the greatest swimmers in the world. The skipper also finished ninth in the 100 freestyle and thirteenth in the 100 butterfly. Nicolao teamed with Laney, Bill Meyer and Morgan Manning in the 400 free relay, placed second in the 100 butterfly, sixth in the 200 butterfly and swam a lap on the 400 medley relay which finished fourth. Meyer, who also placed seventh in the 100 freestyle, turned in the fastest lap of the 400 free relay – a fantastic 45.8. Teaming with Nicolao and Laney in the 400 medley relay were Bob Momsen and Bill Kee. Momsen also placed second in the 200 and ninth in the 100 breaststroke events, respectively.

The large and appreciative crowd gave the Indians a big hand on winning the meet and then was completely flabbergasted by a bit of apparent legerdemain which took place within seconds after the final results showed Stanford to be the winner. Every member of the Indian squad, plus Gaughran, Shoemaker and followers, suddenly appeared in white T-shirts bearing the inscription, "Stanford U 1967 NCAA Swimming Champions." It really wasn't magic at all, but the contribution of Bill Lee, the Indians' number one aquatic buff, who had been so sure of the outcome that he had invested in the shirts. That's confidence and Lee, an advertising and equipment executive, grinned like a Cheshire cat as he admired his handiwork.

Stanford University, led by Olympians Pablo Morales, John Moffet and Jeff Kostoff, got over the hump and won its first NCAA Championships since 1967, the school's second of all time.

The Cardinal, who captured momentum early in the three-day competition and never relinquished it, easily outscored two-time defending NCAA champion Florida and host Texas in the most lopsided NCAA's in eight years. Stanford scored 403.5 points, followed by Florida's 329, Texas (306), California (294) and USC (230.5). Stanford, which had finished third in 1984, fourth in 1983 and third again in 1982, took command from the first session and was clearly in control throughout the three days of competition at the Texas Swim Center on the campus of the University of Texas at Austin.

Stanford won an unprecedented eight events during the three-day championship with Olympic medalist Morales leading the way. Morales, a sophomore from Santa Clara, won three NCAA titles and was a member of Stanford's record-breaking 400 medley relay team. Morales got things started for Stanford on the first night, winning the 200 individual medley. He came back the next night to win the 100 butterfly and on the final day he won the 200 fly.

Besides Morales, Stanford got two individual titles from John Moffet, another member of the 1984 U.S. Olympic Team. Moffet, a junior from Newport Beach, won both his specialties, the 100 and 200 breast. Jeff Kostoff won the NCAA title in the 400 IM in an American and Stanford record-breaking time of 3:46.54 while freshman Sean Murphy, in perhaps the most surprising performance for Stanford, won the national title in the 200 backstroke. The Cardinal 400 medley relay team, as expected, won the NCAA crown to give Stanford eight victories in the 16 swimming events.

"This is the highlight of my coaching career," said Stanford head coach Skip Kenney, who began coaching at Stanford in 1979. "This is such a great feeling. I can't put it into words. The team effort, the team togetherness far exceeds any Olympic experience I've ever had. We swam exceptionally well in every phase and in every session. Nobody gave it to us. We had a lot of great individual efforts and our depth was better than I expected. I didn't think 13 swimmers would be enough to win it, but then again I didn't think Sean Murphy would win the 200 back and Anthony Mosse would qualify in two finals. Our freshmen did a super job. But the key was that we had the momentum from the start and we carried it through from session to session. We never let it go. This is the best team I've ever had at Stanford."

Swimming World magazine named Morales the 1984 American Male Swimmer of the Year earlier in the year and after Morales' performance at the '85 NCAA's, that claim couldn't be more accurate. The sophomore from Santa Clara stole the show during the three days of competition, winning three individual titles, being a member of Stanford's record-breaking 400 yard medley relay team, breaking three American and NCAA records and setting four Stanford records in the process. Morales was the high-point swimmer in the tournament, accounting for 77.5 points by himself – which would have placed him 14th in the nation if he alone were a team.

John Moffet made a stylish comeback for Stanford. After a heart-breaking Olympic experience the prior summer in Los Angeles, Moffet proved once again that he was one of the world's finest breaststrokers. Moffet, who pulled a muscle in his upper right thigh during the Olympics and did not get back in the water to train until January, won both the 100 and 200 yard breaststrokes for the second straight year at the NCAA's. The junior from Newport Beach broke two Stanford school records, winning the 100 breast in 53.62 and the 200 breast in 1:55.96. He also took sixth in the 200IM (1:48.05) and was a member of the 400 medley relay team.

John Moffet won the NCAA title in both the 100 and 200 breast in 1985.

1986 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Led by Olympians Pablo Morales, Anthony Mosse, John Moffet and Jeff Kostoff, the Stanford men's swimming and diving team turned what was supposed to be a very close NCAA Championships into another lopsided Cardinal victory, giving Stanford its second consecutive men's swimming & diving championship and the school's 25th NCAA team title.

The Cardinal took home six individual titles and one relay title to easily outscore runner-up California by 69 points. With Morales, Moffet, Kostoff and Sean Murphy all winning NCAA Championships, the Cardinal took the lead after the first day and never relinquished it.

"Winning the NCAA's this year is more gratifying than it was last year," said Cardinal head coach Skip Kenney, who was named NCAA Coach of the Year for the second straight year and the third time in the last five seasons. "Last year we got the monkey off our backs and finally won. It was very, very sweet but more of a relief. This year, it was a five-team battle and there was a lot of pressure to not make mistakes. Our guys really rose to the challenge of the other four teams. They knew they had to be on to win it."

Following Stanford's 404 points were Cal (335), Texas (325.5), Florida (321), UCLA (288), SMU (169), USC (160), Alabama (136), Arizona State (120) and Arizona (105) to round out the top 10.

Morales, a junior from Santa Clara, was once again the catalyst of the Cardinal squad. All the former Olympian did was win three NCAA titles, swim the third leg of the team's NCAA-winning 400 medley relay team and swim on the team's 400 and 800 free relay teams. Morales, who won two individual titles as a freshman in '84 and three as a sophomore in '85, has earned eight individual NCAA titles through '86, tying him with former Indiana star and two-time Olympian Mark Spitz.

Morales won the 100 fly in 46.37, the third straight year he won that event. He set a new American, NCAA and meet record in racing to a 46.25 in the morning prelims. Morales also won the 200 fly in 1:43.05 and the 200 IM in 1:45.43.

Kostoff's performance was nothing new to those in swimming circles. The junior from Upland set an American record for the fourth consecutive year in winning the 1650 freestyle in 14:37.87, lowering his own American record of 14:38.22. He also placed third in the 500 free (4:18.03) and fourth in the 400 IM (1:45.43).

After being upset in the 100 breaststroke, senior Moffet came back to win his fifth NCAA title. Moffet won the 200 breast for the third straight season in 1:56.91. He came in second in the 100 breast in 53.90 and 13th in the 200 IM in 1:49.50.

Dave Lundberg, Morales, Murphy and Moffet helped lead Stanford's 400 medley relay team to the NCAA title in 3:12.47. Murphy took home the NCAA Championships in the 200 back for the second straight season, winning in a time of 1:45.90. The sophomore from Toronto also placed fourth in the 100 back in 49.36.

Stanford also had plenty of depth to go along with its NCAA champions. Lundberg, Mosse, David Louden and freshmen John Hodge and Jay Mortenson provided the Cardinal with the kind of depth needed to win the national championship.

Mosse, who competed in the meet despite two torn ligaments in his right ankle, finished second in the 200 fly (1:43.96) and fifth in the 100 fly (47.86). Lundberg had two top eight finishes, taking sixth in the 200 breast (2:00.52) and eighth in the 100 breast (55.18). Mortenson gave the Cardinal a big lift by placing fourth in the 100 fly (47.71) while Hodge also produced some much-needed points by taking sixth in the 200 free (1:37.23) and 16th in the 100 free (44.83).

Another facet of Stanford's talent-laden squad was its diving contingent of Thor Johnson and Tom Rothenbacher. The Cardinal duo combined to score points in both one and three-meter diving. Johnson, who placed seventh in the one-meter at last year's NCAA's, took sixth in the one-meter and 10th in the three-meter at this year's meet. Rothenbacher competed at the 1984 NCAA's, where he placed 14th in the three-meter, but did not make the NCAA's a year ago. This time around, the senior from Pound Ridge, New York took seventh in the one-meter and 14th in the three-meter.

Three-time NCAA 200 back champion Sean Murphy was inducted into the Stanford Athletic Hall of Fame in 2006.

Diver Thor Johnson scored key points for Stanford at NCAA's.

Seniors Pablo Morales and Jeff Kostoff combined to win five individual NCAA titles and the Stanford University men's swimming and diving team did something no Stanford team had ever done in any sport – won three NCAA Championships in a row.

Behind its two leaders, the Cardinal, for the third straight year, turned what was supposed to be a tight team battle into a rout by winning the national championship by 78 points – the largest margin of victory in NCAA men's swimming history. Stanford finished the three-day meet at the University of Texas Swim Center with 374 points, followed by USC (296), Florida (293), California (269) and Texas (257).

"The feeling of winning a national championship is so fantastic that I can't begin to describe my feelings," said Cardinal head coach Skip Kenney, who was named the NCAA Coach of the Year for the third straight season and the fourth time in the last six years. "Nobody can say we were lucky. We knew coming into the meet that if we swam well, we'd win it. This is one of the greatest teams in NCAA history."

Morales, who is arguably the greatest swimmer in NCAA history, placed himself in the record book by winning three more individual titles, giving him 11 in his storybook career. Morales' total breaks the NCAA record of 10 previously held by USC's John Naber.

Morales won his three events (100 fly, 200 fly and 200 individual medley), broke his own American record in the 200 fly (1:42.60), led his team to a first place finish in the 400 medley relay and helped the Cardinal score well in the 400 free and 800 free relays.

In his career the Santa Clara native won 11 of the 12 individual events he swam. He won the 100 and 200 fly for four consecutive years and won the 200 IM the past three years. As a freshman, Morales placed fourth in the 200 IM.

"It doesn't get much better than this," Morales said of winning the national championship. "We have a lot of great athletes on this team and they proved what they can do. I couldn't have asked for anything more."

Kostoff, from Upland, California, enjoyed his finest NCAA Championships meet, winning both the 1650 free and the 400 IM and also placing fifth in the 500 free. He finished his career with five NCAA individual titles, the 1650 free in 1984, '86 and '87, and the 400 IM in '85 and '87.

Along with Morales and Kostoff, Stanford had the depth to not only win the title, but win it going away.

Anthony Mosse, Sean Murphy, Jay Mortenson and freshman John Witchel all scored well for the Cardinal. Mortenson, a sophomore from Madison, Wisconsin, gave notice that he is one of this country's most versatile and talented swimmers as he placed second in both the 100 back and the 100 fly, and broke the American record in the 100 back swimming the leadoff leg of the 400 medley relay.

Mortenson's split of 47.94 to lead off the medley relay broke Tom Jager's American mark of 48.21. He came back later in the meet to score big points in the 100 back and 100 fly, finishing second to Morales in the 100 fly.

Mosse, for the third year in a row, was a finalist in both the 100 and 200 butterfly events, taking second to Morales in the 200 fly and third in the 100 fly, completing a 1-2-3 Stanford finish in that event.

Murphy, a junior from Toronto, had won the 200 back the past two seasons, but finished fourth in this meet. He still scored well for the Cardinal with an eighth place finish in the 100 back.

The freshman class, led by John Witchel of New York, gave the Cardinal the depth needed to win the meet. Witchel was a finalist in all three of his events, placing sixth in the 500 and 1650 free and seventh in the 200 free. Byron Burson took ninth in the 100 fly and was a member of Stanford's 400 free relay team. Doug Lillydahl finished 10th in the 50 free and was also on the 400 free relay and Sam Schwartz helped the Cardinal win the 400 medley relay.

Mosse, for the third year in a row, was a finalist in both the 100 and 200 butterfly events, taking second to Morales in the 200 fly and third in the 100 fly, completing a 1-2-3 Stanford finish in that event.

1992 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Stanford capped an impressive year in which it dominated men's collegiate swimming. In the process, it established scoring marks for both the Pac-10 and NCAA meets. Stanford swimmers set American records in the 100 and 200 backstroke as well as the 200 and 400 medley relay and the 200 free relay in 1992.

Stanford scored an NCAA swimming record 632 points to win its fifth NCAA men's swimming and diving title in Indianapolis, March 26-28. Stanford defeated runner-up Texas by a 276-point margin to secure its fourth title in the last eight years. The Cardinal finished the season with a 5-1 record and its 11th consecutive Pac-10 team title. For his efforts, head coach Skip Kenney was named NCAA Coach of the Year, the fifth such honor in the Cardinal mentor's 14-year tenure.

Stanford concluded its record-setting performance in Indianapolis in impressive fashion. Cardinal swimmers set seven American records, won four individual titles and set three relay marks.

The meet also marked the first time ever that a team won all five relay races.

"I don't think anybody could expect to do this well. This is one of those dream-type of meets. Jeff Rouse is a perfect example of how focused we were coming into the meet. We had great preliminary swims, probably the best ever for Stanford. We really set ourselves up well for the finals. We were so unpredictable coming in, and we've been a very pleasant surprise," said Skip Kenney.

Rouse, who later captured a silver and gold at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics, had his best meet at Stanford. He won three individual championships: 100 back (46.12), 200 back (1:40.64) and 200 IM (1:45.81) with the backstroke events won in American-record times. In addition, he was part of record-setting 200 and 400 medley relay teams as well as anchoring the winning 400 free relay squad. For his efforts, Rouse was named the 1992 NCAA Swimmer of the Year.

In an NCAA first, Stanford became the only team in NCAA history to win all five relays at the Championships. (Back Row: Eddie Parenti, Trip Zedlitz, John de Groot, Bill Schell, Derek Weatherford, Brian Retterer. Front Row: Jeff Rouse, Tyler Mayfield, Dan Kanner, Erik Maurer.)

Stanford's 200 points on day one were the most ever to open the meet, the previous high being 165. The Cardinal won four of the five events on the opening day. On the final two days, Stanford had at least one finalist in each event. Two freshmen, Ray Carey and Dan Kanner, both turned in impressive top eight finishes. Carey came in fourth in the 200 butterfly (1:45.30) and Kanner came in seventh in the 200 free (1:36.16).

- Stanford tallied the highest swimming point total in NCAA history (632 points).
- Greatest margin of victory ever between first and second place.
- Only team in NCAA history to win all five relay events.

1993 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Stanford's men's swim team claimed its second consecutive NCAA crown as it capped an undefeated season in 1993. Stanford finished 8-0 and on the way to the NCAA's, the Cardinal won its 12th consecutive Pac-10 title, leaving broken records in its wake.

The Cardinal again toppled all opponents at the Pac-10 Conference meet at the King County Aquatic Center in Federal Way, Washington, March 4-6. Along the way, Stanford swept all five relays, a feat never before accomplished in Pac-10 history.

Five Pac-10 meet records fell to Stanford swimmers as well. Trip Zedlitz won the 200 IM, breaking the meet record in 1:45.50. Joe Hudepohl outdistanced the field in the 200 free to capture first

The Cardinal came away with three individual titles and three relay titles. Tyler Mayfield broke the Pac-10 Conference record in the 100 breaststroke, and also swam away with the NCAA title (53.07). Weatherford took the crown in the 100 back and Ray Carey struck gold in the 200 fly.

Hudepohl, Zedlitz, Maurer and Weatherford, otherwise known as the 400 free relay team, broke Stanford's school record as they claimed the title. The 200 free relay team (Schell, Maurer, Mayfield, Hudepohl) won in a time of 1:17.78 and the 400 medley relay team (Weatherford, Mayfield, Zedlitz and Hudepohl) pulled in Stanford's sixth title.

Other Stanford school records fell at the NCAA's as Bill Schell placed third in the 50 free with a time of 19.49. Hudepohl knocked off the 100 free record with his 43.33 as the lead-off leg of the NCAA-winning 400 free relay. Zedlitz placed second in the 200 individual medley and knocked the Cardinal record down to 1:45.36.

Stanford's efforts resulted in 520.5 points as the Cardinal pushed aside Michigan (396) and Texas (326) to claim the NCAA crown.

Other highlights for the 1992-93 team included head coach Skip Kenney's United States' swim team winning the Pan Pacific Championships in Kobe, Japan. Stanford was represented at the meet by seven Cardinal swimmers in addition to coach and break the meet record in 1:35.05. Kurt Grote swam to a first place finish and broke the record in the 200 breaststroke in 1:56.93.

Cardinal relay teams broke the other two Pac-10 meet records. The 800 free relay team, consisting of Eddie Parenti, Dan Kanner, Eric Diehl and Hudepohl, took first and slashed the meet record to 6:24.98. The 400 free relay team, made up of Bill Schell, Erik Maurer, Derek Weatherford and Hudepohl, dropped that record to 2:54.10 with a first place finish.

Stanford outdistanced the field by 245 points, earning a total of 865, to win the Pac-10 title. UCLA and Arizona State were second and third respectively.

Stanford's 12th Pac-10 title primed the Cardinal for the '93 NCAA's in Indianapolis, Indiana. And Stanford painted the Indiana pool Cardinal red.

Kenney. Stanford also won the men's team title at the U.S. Swimming National Championships in Austin, Texas.

In addition, three of Stanford's backstrokers ranked in the top four in the world. Jeff Rouse (1992 graduate) ranked first while Brian Retterer and Weatherford were third and fourth, respectively.

Stanford brought home five individual titles, three relay titles, five silver medals (including relays) and amassed 566.5 points to second place Texas' 445. But winning wasn't everything as the Cardinal men's swim team left broken records in the water of the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis, Minnesota, March 24-26.

Stanford slashed two American, U.S. Open, and NCAA records, three Pac-10 records and six Stanford school records en route to its third NCAA title in as many years. On top of that, the Stanford class of 1994 established itself as the best senior class of swimmers in the history of the sport.

"It wasn't pretty. It wasn't easy. But it was better than anyone else," Stanford head coach Skip Kenney said.

The 1994 champions included Brian Retterer in the 50 free and 100 back, Derek Weatherford in the 200 back and Kurt Grote in the 200 breast. Senior Tyler Mayfield became a two-time champion in the 100 breast. The Cardinal won the 200 free relay (Bill Schell, Retterer, Mayfield and Joe Hudepohl), the 200 medley relay (Weatherford, Schell, Mayfield and Retterer) and the 400 medley relay (Weatherford, Ray Carey, Mayfield and Retterer). It was Carey's first NCAA title as a participant on a relay.

Stanford opened the NCAA meet with an American, NCAA, U.S. Open, Pac-10 and Stanford record in the 200 free relay, first in the trials (1:17.10) and again in the finals (1:16.93). Schell swam the leadoff leg (19.93) with Retterer (18.67) and Mayfield (19.32) swimming two and three and Hudepohl finishing it off (19.01). Retterer's split was the fastest in the history of the 200 free relay. That same night Retterer led off the 400 medley relay in the trials and smashed every record, including the American, in the 100 back with a time of 45.74. Former teammate Jeff Rouse held that 100 back record (46.12) since 1992.

Tyler Mayfield won the 100 Breast, and was a member of the 200 Free Relay, 200 Medley Relay and 400 Medley Relay that captured first.

"The first day our team struggled. Brian Retterer literally carried our team. It was one of the greatest one-day performances I've ever seen," Kenney said.

The 400 free relay (Hudepohl, Retterer, Schell and Weatherford) swam an American-record breaking time of 2:51.41 but finished second to arch rival Texas, the owner of the previous record (2:52.01). The 400 free relay broke the Pac-10 conference record as well as the Stanford school record by nearly two seconds.

Retterer broke the school record in the 50 free twice, first in the open 50 (19.45) and then as the leadoff leg of the 200 free relay in the trials (19.34). Hudepohl smashed his own school record in the 100 free racing to a time of 42.84 in the trials. The 800 free relay team (Scott Gagner, Dan Kanner, Hudepohl and Weatherford) shattered the old school record (6:25.10) with a time of 6:22.96.

"I can't get over the 800 and 400 free relays," Kenney said. "We just crushed our school records."

Head coach Skip Kenney captures Stanford's seventh NCAA title.

Retterer, who redshirted the 1992-93 season due to a shoulder injury, added to his list of achievements when he scored 55 points for the Cardinal, the second most in school history behind Pablo Morales (60) and Rouse (60). Retterer captured two firsts and a fourth individually as well as taking part in four of the five relays.

Stanford's strength ran deep as Hudepohl finished second in both the 100 and 200 freestyles as well as placing third in the 50 free. Carey earned a silver in the 200 fly while senior Eddie Parenti finished third. The Cardinal finished 1-2-5 in the 100 back (Retterer, Weatherford and senior Trip Zedlitz) and 1-3-4 in the 100 breast (Mayfield, senior J.J. Freitag and Grote).

"On the second day, our 100 back and 100 breast just broke it open. That was the turning point in the meet right there. That just blew everyone else right out of the pool. We scored 102 points right there," Kenney said.

The best performance by a Stanford freshman was turned in by Kevin Radvany who placed sixth in the 1650 free.

And finally, the Cardinal class of 1994 became the best senior class in the history of men's swimming as they scored 206 points at the NCAA's. The previous best class was USC's class of '77 which scored 186 points as seniors (converted from 1977 point system to 1994 point system). The point totals do not include relays.

"Our senior class surpassed the 1977 USC class as the best senior class in NCAA history. They have left so much history at Stanford," Kenney said. "It's a great group of young men."

Kenney brought home his third consecutive NCAA title and his sixth since 1985. Since 1980 Kenney has produced 45 individual champions. He completed his second year in a row undefeated.

Stanford's NCAA title was prefaced with its 13th-consecutive Pac-10 title and an undefeated dual-meet season. At the Pac-10 Championships, the Cardinal scored a meet-record 962 points. The previous meet record was 935.5 (Stanford, 1989).

1998 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Stanford University ran away from the rest of the field to easily capture the 1998 NCAA Men's Swimming & Diving Championships at Auburn University, marking the Cardinal's fourth national title of the decade and seventh in the last 14 years.

The Cardinal finished with 599 points at NCAA's, the second most in school history (632 in 1991-92), to outdistance defending champion and host Auburn's 394.5. Stanford recorded an NCAA Championships first by having at least one top eight finalist in all 18 swimming events. In all, the Cardinal won eight of a possible 18 events, and recorded an amazing 16 top three finishes.

"This team swam unbelievably," said the Cardinal's Tate Blahnik, the winner of the 200 yard backstroke. "There were no weaknesses in any event. It was hard to believe how focused we were and how well we swam the whole week."

Tom Wilkens captured one relay and three individual NCAA titles at the 1998 NCAA Championships meet.

Senior Tom Wilkens ended his Stanford career in style by winning all three of his individual events. Wilkens defended his national title in the 400 yard individual medley (3:43.96), and also captured the 200 yard breaststroke (1:55.02) and 200 yard individual medley (1:45.16). His win in the 200 yard breaststroke officially clinched the national title.

If that wasn't enough, Wilkens shattered his own school record in the 400 individual medley (3:45.59) and broke Trip Zedlitz' Cardinal mark of 1:45.36 (1993) in the 200 individual medley. He also tied world champion Kurt Grote's school record in the 200 breaststroke (1:55.02). Wilkens finished his Stanford career with 182.5 NCAA points, which ranks him fourth in school history behind only Pablo Morales (235), Jeff Kostoff (193) and Derek Weatherford (184).

"We set goals to do what we've done, and we came in here thinking we could pull it off," Wilkens said. "But when you do it – when it actually happens – it's really exciting."

Wilkins was joined in the winners circle by both Matthew Pierce and Blahnik. Pierce won the 200 yard butterfly in 1:43.68 (teammate Steven Brown was second in 1:44.00), and in the process turned in the second best time in school history in the event behind only Morales (1:42.60).

Blahnik won the 200 back in 1:41.21 to bring home the Cardinal's fourth national title in that event in the 1990's (Jeff Rouse, 1992; Weatherford, 1994; Brian Retterer, 1995).

The Cardinal won three of five relays, including an American, NCAA and U.S. Open record setting performance (1:16.76) in the 200 yard free relay by Anthony Robinson, Sabir Muhammad, Justin Ewers and Scott Claypool. Stanford also touched the wall first in both the 400 yard free relay (Dod Wales, Muhammad, Glenn Counts, Claypool; 2:51.37) and the 400 yard medley relay (Blahnik, Wilkens, Muhammad, Wales; 3:07.73).

The Cardinal's dominant postseason performance helped Cardinal coach Skip Kenney further lengthen his list of accomplishments on The Farm. Kenney, who has led Stanford to seven NCAA titles and 18 top five finishes in his 20 seasons, was named both the 1997-98 NCAA and Pac-10 Coach of the Year. The NCAA honor was his first since 1992 and sixth overall, while the Pac-10 award was his 12th and fourth in the last five seasons.

Stanford University at a Glance

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country; many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold of greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

Nearly 116 years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanford's generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is less than hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few minutes north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, tremendous sports and recreation facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Australia, Beijing, Berlin, Cape Town, Florence, Kyoto, Madrid, Moscow, Oxford, Paris, and Santiago.

THE UNIVERSITY

2009-10 STANFORD MEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers 1,874 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. As of the June of 2009, the faculty included 16 Nobel Laureates, four Pulitzer Prize winners, 23 MacArthur Fellows, 19 recipients of the National Medal of Science, two National Medal of Technology recipients, 244 members of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, 136 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 83 National Academy of Engineering members, 46 American Philosophical Society members, 27 members of the National Academy of Education, eight Wolf Foundation Prize winners, six winners of the Koret Foundation Prize and three Presidential Medal of Freedom winners. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently, 15,140 students, of which 6,812 are undergraduates, study on campus. A little more than 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and 8 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, approximately 55 percent are African American, Asian American, International, Mexican American, Native American, Native Hawaiian or Other Hispanic in ethnicity. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class with 89% of those admitted finishing in the top 10% of their high school class. Ninety-eight Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars, 78 have been selected Marshall Award winners, and 53 have been chosen Truman Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in many community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 35 Division I varsity sports. Of Stanford's 97 NCAA titles (111 national), 57 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Forty-nine Stanford-affiliated athletes competed in the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, collecting a school-record 25 medals (eight gold, 13 silver and four bronze. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,300 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program is more than 4,600, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care."

Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day . . . At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Bob Bowsby

The Jaquish & Kenninger
Director of Athletics

One of the most respected athletic administrators in the nation, Bob Bowsby enters his fourth full year as the Jaquish & Kenninger Director of Athletics at Stanford University, a position he was appointed to on April 25, 2006 after spending 15 years at the helm of the University of Iowa's athletic program. In his initial three years in the position, Stanford has continued its well-earned reputation of fielding the most successful and wide-ranging Division I-A athletic programs in the nation.

As Stanford's sixth athletic director, Bowsby succeeds Ted Leland (1991-2005), Andy Geiger (1979-90), Joe Ruetz (1972-78), Chuck Taylor (1963-71) and Al Masters (1925-63). He directs a department that includes 35 intercollegiate varsity teams – 15 men's, 19 women's and one coed – plus the physical education department, intramurals, club sports, open recreation and the Stanford Golf Course.

Under his administrative guidance, Stanford claimed its unprecedented 15th straight Learfield Sports Director's Cup last spring, emblematic of the top overall program in the country. Ten Stanford teams boasted Top 10 finishes, winning national championships in men's gymnastics and women's rowing.

Stanford's student-athletes were also highly-decorated last year. Foluke Akinradewo (women's volleyball) earned her second straight national player of the year honor while eight student-athletes earned conference player of the year marks. In addition, Erik Shoji (men's volleyball) earned national freshman of the year accolades.

Two Stanford coaches--Thom Glielmi (men's gymnastics) and Yaz Farooq (women's rowing) earned national coach of the year marks.

Throughout his career, Bowsby has emerged as a national leader in intercollegiate and amateur athletics. He was named in February, 2007, to the United States Olympic Committee Board of Directors.

He has previously served as President of the NCAA Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association (2002-03), Chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee for two years (2003-05) and a committee member for five years, Chair of the Big Ten Administrator's Council (2002-04) and Chair of the NCAA Management Council.

Bowsby was appointed by President George Bush as a member of the Commission on Opportunities in Athletics in 2002-03. The committee was led by U.S. Secretary of Education Rod Paige.

Bowsby was elected chair of the NCAA Olympic Sports Liaison Committee and represented the NCAA as one of two voting members on the United States Olympic Committee Board of Directors. He served as a member of the NCAA/U.S. Olympic Committee Task Force chaired by Cedric Dempsey and George Steinbrenner.

In addition, Bowsby served as chair of the NCAA Wrestling Committee and has served on NCAA committees on Financial Aid and Amateurism, the Special Committee to Review Amateurism Issues and the Special Committee to Review Financial Conditions in Athletics.

Bowsby has also served as an Executive Committee member with both the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and served as President of the I-A organization for two years.

The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) named Bowsby in 2001-02 as Central Region Athletic Director of the Year and Sports Business Journal selected him from the four regional award winners as the National Athletics Director of the Year. The award highlights the efforts of the athletic directors for their commitment and positive contributions to campuses and their surrounding communities.

As the chief administrator for Iowa's athletic department from 1991-2006, Bowsby earned a reputation as one of the most admired, energetic and ambitious athletic administrators in the nation. Bowsby guided and supervised the merger of the Hawkeye's women's and men's athletics departments while enabling Iowa to maintain its standing as one of the most visible and successful Division I athletic programs.

Under his leadership, Iowa enjoyed unprecedented success and growth in the area of fund raising and facilities. Bowsby and the UI Development staff put in place $25 million in endowments to help support Hawkeye student-athlete scholarship aid. In addition, he managed the planning and construction of $120 million in facility projects on campus, including an $87 million renovation to Kinnick Stadium.

A native of Waterloo, Iowa, Bowsby became Iowa's 10th Athletic Director in June, 1991, after serving in the same role at the University of Northern Iowa since 1984. Bowsby earned his bachelors degree from Moorhead State University (Minnesota) in 1975 and his master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1978.

Bob and his wife, Candice, have four children: Lisa, Matt, Rachel and Kyle.
