Stanford University

The Nation's Premier University

Stanford University is recognized as one of the world's great universities.

Stanford's faculty is one of the most distinguished in the nation, including 17 Nobel Laureates and four Pulitzer Prize winners. There are over 8 million volumes in Stanford's nearly two-dozen libraries.

Stanford students come from all over the world, including all 50 states and approximately 100 countries.

The University still enjoys the 8,100 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves and rolling hills that were the Stanford's generous legacy. It is one of the most picturesque campuses in the nation, comfortably set in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Life as a Cardinal

The Stanford Student

Student-athletes at Stanford have accepted the challenge of pursuing excellence both in the classroom and on the playing field. It is often said that Stanford offers the best of both worlds – top flight academics and unparalleled athletics.

Stanford's 6,500 undergraduates and 7,700 graduate students are distinguished by their initiative, love of learning and commitment to the larger world. Independent thinkers and relentlessly curious, students at Stanford bring passion and imagination to everything they do.

Stanford students work hard, and they play with equal energy and enthusiasm. From public service to performing arts, from intramural sports to student government, undergraduates take part in dozens of activities beyond the classroom.

The San Francisco Bay Area

The Place to Go

From bustling cosmopolitan cities to quiet coastal retreats, the San Francisco Bay Area is incomparable.

First-class attractions, world-class athletics, cultural diversity, remarkable skylines and breathtaking views.

The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world's most popular destinations, including stops at the Golden Gate Bridge, San Francisco's Chinatown and Pier 39 a short distance from campus.

Stanford University is located within an hour's drive of San Francisco to the north, Silicon Valley to the south and the coastal cities which line the Pacific Ocean to the west.

Cardinal Basketball Strength Program

Stanford Basketball is about much more than the excitement of what people see on game night. The execution and enthusiasm is the end result of many dedicated hours to their year-round training.

Just steps away from the gym floor in Maples Pavilion is the Stanford Strength and Conditioning Complex. It is where the Cardinal athlete lay the foundation for their basketball success. Under the guidance of Coach Kelly Clark, each player has a program specifically designed to maximize their individual potential. With a basis of Olympic Lifting and Functional Movement Training, each Stanford athlete works in a progressed, year-round training program. Our areas of emphasis are strength, speed, agility, flexibility and nutrition, all with the ultimate goal of enhanced on-court performance while remaining injury free.

Each basketball player will establish specific goals for herself and will strive to meet them. This individual commitment to training creates and environment of excellence.

"Hard work spotlights the character of people...

Some turn up their sleeves,

Some turn up their noses,

And some don't turn up at all!"

The Legacy Lives On

The Cardinal has claimed the Pac-10 Conference regular season crown the last four years, and the Pac-10 Tournament the last three.

The 2005-06 Women's Basketball team will have a fresh new look, with the departure of five seniors and the addition of three new freshmen. Despite the loss of Susan King Borchardt, Sebnem Kimyacioglu, Azella Perryman, Kelley Suminski and T'Nae Thiel, a quintet who contributed nearly half of the squad's scoring and rebounding last year, the squad retains starters Brooke Smith and Candice Wiggins.

"Obviously, we lost a lot to graduation," noted head coach Tara VanDerveer. "We're going to have a whole new look, and it's going to take some time to get our young players up to speed. Having said that, we also return Candice and Brooke – they're the backbone of our team."

The Cardinal will experiment with a myriad of combinations around Smith and Wiggins as Stanford seeks a trip to the Final Four in April.

"We're going to put a lot of different combinations around them," commented VanDerveer. "For us to be successful, we're really going to have to focus on our rebounding and our defense. Yes, we will still shoot the ball well, but we're going to have to be a more aggressive team. That's our focus."

Stanford will have another challenging schedule this season, as the Cardinal opens the season at the Minnesota Tournament before hosting Fresno State, Tennessee and Rice. Stanford will also travel to Texas Tech and Boston College and will begin the Pac-10 season on Dec. 20 in Washington. After the regular conference season, Stanford will attempt to win its fourth-straight Pac-10 Tournament title before beginning its quest for the National Championship.

The Cardinal enters the 2005-06 season as the five-time defending Pac-10 Champions and is coming off back-to-back Elite Eight appearances. But past successes have only made this team hungrier.

Although Smith and Wiggins are the only returning starters, the rest of the team has plenty of experience and talent and are ready to compete. The entire team is strong and well conditioned coming into fall practice, and ready to hit the floor and compete against the nation's best.

Guards

The Cardinal will have another strong year at guard, as Wiggins returns for her sophomore year as the reigning Pac-10 Player of the Year and a Kodak All-American. She will be a key part of the Cardinal's offense, using her intensity on the defensive side of the ball to spur her momentum. Junior Clare Bodensteiner, who red-shirted last season, will be back on the floor and will bring her signature enthusiasm and experience to the court. Freshman Rosalyn Gold-Onwude will also challenge for time at the point, as she returns to the court after missing her senior season in high school due to a knee injury. Junior Markisha Coleman has continued to make major strides and will compete for more court time.

Wings

Stanford has relied heavily on the prolific three-point shooting from Borchardt, Kimyacioglu and Suminski over the past four years, but the Cardinal will be looking for new shooters to step up this season. Senior Krista Rappahahn is looking for an exciting final season, while Cissy Pierce will utilize her tremendous athleticism in her sophomore campaign. Christy Titchenal missed much of her freshman season due to a foot injury and illness, but is stronger and healthier than ever and ready to make an impact. Freshman Jillian Harmon will also add to the mixture on the perimeter, and will look to contribute immediately.

Posts

Smith, a returning First-Team All-Pac-10 selection, will continue to be a force under the basket with her combination of consistent shooting, excellent passing and strong rebounding. Kristen Newlin was one of the most productive players last season, contributing more than eight points in less than 17 minutes per game. In her junior campaign this season, Newlin will be relied upon even more. Senior Shelley Nweke, who has been sidelined much of her career with injury, will look to make an impact in her final season, as she provides extra depth at center. Junior Eziamaka Okafor has been rehabbing since tearing her Achilles' tendon last January, and will be a force to be reckoned with this season. She is expected to provide an athletic and aggressive dimension inside. Freshman Morgan Clyburn will round out the posts, as she brings great intensity and commitment and will challenge for playing time early on in the season.

"In general, one of the strengths of our program is the continuity that we have with Amy, Karen and Charmin. We have a system that we believe in. It involves a lot of individual teaching, and each coach is a great teacher and they were all excellent players. They are able to communicate specific feedback to our team. It's a definite team approach. We have eight eyes seeing things to correct and ways to help our players improve, and that's the biggest strength of our program – the improvements that our players make. That is directly correlated to the teaching ability and communication skills and the knowledge of our coaching staff." – Tara VanDerveer

Head Coach Tara VanDerveer was named
Pac-10 Coach of the Year for the seventh time in her career in 2004-05.

Coaching Staff

Tara VanDerveer

Stanford Women's Basketball Head Coach

2002 Inductee into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame

The Tara VanDerveer File

- Two NCAA Championships
- Head coach of the gold medal winning 1996 U.S. Olympic Team
- Inducted to the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in 2002
- Five NCAA Final Four Appearances
- Three-time NCAA Coach of the Year
- 13 Pacific-10 Conference Titles
- Seven-time Pacific-10 Coach of the Year
- Enters 2005-06 with the third highest career winning percentage among active Division I women's basketball coaches (.788)

In a storied 26-year coaching career, Tara VanDerveer has established herself as one of the top coaches in the history of both collegiate and international women's basketball.

VanDerveer's enormous contributions to the sport were recognized in April 2002, as she was inducted into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in Knoxville, Tenn.

VanDerveer, the 2005 Pac-10 Coach of the Year and a finalist for the Naismith National Coach of the Year honors, has accumulated an impressive 634-171 (.788) record in her 26 years of collegiate coaching. VanDerveer enters the 2005-06 campaign with the third highest career winning percentage among active Division I women's basketball coaches and has won two NCAA Championships and 17 conference titles. Last year's trip to the NCAA Tournament is the 20th post-season appearance in her career.

After 19 years as the head coach of the Stanford women's basketball program, she owns an amazing 482-120 (.801) record. During her tenure on The Farm, she has led the Cardinal to two NCAA Championships, five NCAA Final Four appearances, 13 Pacific-10 Conference titles and 17 consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament. Last season, the Cardinal advanced to the Elite Eight for the ninth time under VanDerveer's tutelage.

VanDerveer's contributions to the sport of women's basketball reach far outside the collegiate world. She became internationally known in 1996 when she guided the United States Olympic Women's Basketball Team to the gold medal in Atlanta. VanDerveer led the National/Olympic team, which included Stanford products Jennifer Azzi and Katy Steding, to an incredible 60-0 record from 1995-1996. In all, VanDerveer has compiled an 88-8 (.917) record, including four gold medals, in eight head coaching stints with USA Basketball.

The coaching great paved the way for many more Stanford milestones in 2001 by signing a multi-year contract extension that will keep her on The Farm through March 31, 2007.

"I am thrilled to extend my affiliation with Stanford University," VanDerveer said. "I am very excited about the things we have been able to accomplish, and look forward to the very bright future ahead."

VanDerveer at Stanford

VanDerveer, who was named the third women's basketball coach in Stanford University history on May 7, 1985, has guided the Cardinal to a 482-120 (.802) record in 19 seasons, including a 273-51 (.843) record in regular season Pac-10 play.

Under her leadership, Stanford has captured two NCAA Titles and made five Final Four appearances. Additionally, her teams have reached the Elite Eight nine times and the Sweet 16 12 times. Since 1987-88, VanDerveer's teams are 39-15 (.722) in NCAA Tournament play. With a 32-3 record in 2004-05, the Cardinal has won 30 or more games six times and 20 or more games 15 times under VanDerveer's guidance.

VanDerveer's teams have also compiled a 260-28 (.903) home record during her tenure, and, with a 13-0 mark in 2004-05, have posted seven perfect seasons at Maples Pavilion.

Stanford teams have been dominant in both the Pac-10 and nationally, as evident by VanDerveer's numerous awards. She is a three-time National Coach of the Year (1987-88, 1988-89, 1989-90) and District Coach of the Year (1987-88, 1988-89, 1989-90), and has been named Pac-10 Coach of the Year on seven occasions (1988-89, 1989-90, 1994-95, 1996-97, 2001-02, 2002-03, 2004-05). Additionally, VanDerveer earned Northern California Women's Intercollegiate Coach of the Year honors five times in a six-year span in the late 80's and early 90's (1987-88, 1988-89, 1989-90, 1991-92, 1992-93).

Regarded as one of the nation's best recruiters, VanDerveer and her staff routinely bring top classes to The Farm. The Stanford staff brought in the likes of Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird, both of whom won women's basketball's highest individual honor – the James Naismith National Player of the Year Award (Azzi 1989-90; Starbird 1996-97) – as well as First-Team

Kodak All-Americans Candice Wiggins (2004-05), Nicole Powell (2001-02, 2002-03, 2003-04), Kristin Folk (1997-98), Sonja Henning (1990-91) and Val Whiting (1991-92, 1992-93). Overall, VanDerveer has guided her players to two Naismith Player of the Year honors, 12 Kodak First-Team All-America honors, 10 Pac-10 Player of the Year awards, 38 First-Team All-Pac-10 selections and 32 appointments to USA Basketball teams.

VanDerveer's alumnae have also made their mark on the professional level in both the WNBA and the ABL. In 2001, Stanford had a league-high 10 players on WNBA rosters. That dominating trend stretches back to 1996, when Stanford had nine players on opening day rosters in the ABL's inaugural season, the most of any institution.

NCAA Champions

VanDerveer earned her first NCAA Championship in 1989-90, after the Cardinal won its first 20 games en route to a 32-1 overall mark. Stanford set more than 100 school, Pac-10 and NCAA postseason records during that campaign. After defeating Mississippi and Arkansas in the NCAA West Regional at Maples Pavilion, the Cardinal continued to roll with a 75-66 win over Virginia in the semifinals and an 88-81 victory over Auburn in the final to capture its first-ever NCAA title.

The Cardinal earned its second championship in 1991-92, despite the loss of three First-Team All-Pac-10 players (Sonja Henning, Trisha Stevens and Julie Zeilstra) from the previous season. The Cardinal won its first 10 games, finished 15-3 in conference play to win its fourth straight Pac-10 title, and went into the NCAA Tournament on an upswing behind the play of Kodak First-Team All-American Val Whiting. Stanford defeated Western Kentucky, 78-62, in the championship game to end the season with its second national title in three years and a 30-3 record.

Prior to Stanford

Prior to her arrival at Stanford, VanDerveer led Ohio State to national prominence from 1980-85, as the Buckeyes went 110-

37 (.748) overall and 55-5 (.917) in the Big Ten during her tenure.

During that time, the Buckeyes won four Big Ten Championships (1981-82, 1982-83, 1983-84, 1984-85), compiled four consecutive 20-win seasons and made three NCAA Tournament appearances (1981-82, 1983-84, 1984-85). In 1984-85, Ohio State finished seventh in the national rankings and fell to eventual national champion Old Dominion by four points in the East Regional Final. She was twice named Big Ten Coach of the Year (1983-84, 1984-85) during her tenure in Columbus.

Before Ohio State, VanDerveer served as head coach at the University of Idaho. In two seasons in Moscow (1978-79, 1979-80), she brought unprecedented success to Vandal women's basketball. The Vandals went 42-14 in her two seasons and advanced to the AIAW Tournament (predecessor to the NCAA Tournament) in 1980.

"Tara challenges you to be the best that you want to be. She challenges you to work hard, convinces you to set goals higher than you may otherwise have done, and as a result, allows you to prove to yourself just how much you can achieve in life as well as on the court. During my seven years with the WNBA, I have had the opportunity to interact with many of the top players and coaches in this country and there is no better teacher of the game than Tara. I have watched a lot of practices and scouted a number of games, and I don't think there is a coach in America who does a better job of preparing her team to succeed than Tara."

"Tara is the leader of a program in which the team is far greater than its individual players. I wouldn't want it any other way. You completely give yourself to the team, playing a game you love, to be a part of something you feel everyday is so much bigger than yourself. You win, lose, laugh and cry together. And when it's over you will always have those memories and you will have friendships that will last a lifetime."

– Milena Flores (1997-00)

Personal

VanDerveer is a 1975 graduate of Indiana University, where she was a Dean's List scholar for three years and a sociology major. As an athlete at Indiana, VanDerveer held one of the starting guard positions for three years on the women's basketball team. For her efforts at Indiana and her accomplishments after leaving the Hoosiers, VanDerveer was inducted into the Indiana University Hall of Fame in 1995.

In addition to the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame and Indiana University Hall of Fame, VanDerveer has also been inducted into the Women's Sports Foundation Hall of Fame and the Greater Buffalo Hall of Fame.

Peter and Helen Bing Director of Women's Basketball

The position of head women's basketball coach at Stanford has been endowed through a gift from Dr. and Mrs. Peter Bing of Los Angeles. Their gift establishes the Peter and Helen Bing Directorship of Women's Basketball, currently held by Tara VanDerveer.

The Bings have been supporters of Stanford University for decades. They have also been long-time supporters of Cardinal athletics. In addition to endowing the Director of Women's Basketball position, Peter and Helen Bing established endowed funds for the Director of Women's Tennis and four scholarships for female student-athletes.

VanDerveer, a Boston native who grew up in upstate New York, is also a published author. Her book Shooting From The Outside, which chronicled her 1996 Olympic and National Team experience, was released in September 1997.

VanDerveer, an avid piano player in her spare time, was born June 26, 1953.

"Tara is a great coach because she's so experienced and everything she says is something you can learn from. She's very straightforward and constantly teaching you about all aspects of the game. It's easy to play hard for her!" – Candice Wiggins

VanDerveer and USA Basketball

A veteran international coach, VanDerveer had served as head coach of seven previous USA Basketball teams before earning the prestigious job as the 1995-96 U.S. National Team and 1996 U.S. Olympic Team head coach on April 13, 1995.

The 1995-96 National Team posted a record of 52-0 before Olympic competition. At the XXVI Olympiad in Atlanta, VanDerveer's team went 8-0, including a 111-87 defeat of Brazil in the final to capture the gold medal. The gold medal by VanDerveer's team was the third in five Olympic competitions for U.S. women.

Prior to Atlanta, VanDerveer led the team to a perfect 52-0 record during a tour of the globe in 1995 and 1996, including a 20-0 mark against U.S. collegiate opposition. Coupled with the performance in Atlanta, VanDerveer finished her one-year appointment with an amazing 60-0 record.

Tara VanDerveer, seen with former President Bill Clinton (right), coached the U.S. National Team to the Olympic Gold Medal in 1996.

"Tara is probably the one coach who helped to define me as a player. I learned so much from her during the summers I spent playing USA Basketball in college and during my 1996 Olympic experience. It is because of her that I'm able to teach the game to younger players in a way that makes sense. Tara – thanks for opening up the doors of knowledge and understanding ... the game is so much easier to play!"
 -Dawn Staley
 (1996, 2000 and 2004 Olympian)

For those efforts, VanDerveer was honored as the 1996 USA Basketball National Coach of the Year. She was also selected as the 1996 USOC Elite Basketball Coach of the Year.

Prior to coaching the National Team, VanDerveer directed the 1994 USA Goodwill Games Team to a 4-0 record and the gold medal in St. Petersburg, Russia. Also in 1994, she led the USA World Championship Team to the bronze medal and a tournament-best record of 7-1 in Australia. One year earlier, VanDerveer helped the United States earn its FIBA World Championship berth by coaching the team to a gold medal at the 1993 World Championship Qualifying Tournament in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

In 1991, VanDerveer's USA World University Games team posted an 8-0 record and won the gold medal in Sheffield, England. VanDerveer also coached the 1990 USA Select Team and the 1986 U.S. Olympic Festival East Team.

Amy Tucker

Associate Head Coach

Amy Tucker was named Pac-10 and UPI Coach of the Year after guiding Stanford to the Final Four in 1996.

"Amy is a great post coach. We love working with her. She is very knowledgeable about post moves and post defense. She is also great at lightening the mood with her sense of humor."
— Brooke Smith

Amy Tucker, who led the Cardinal to the NCAA Final Four as interim head coach in 1995-96, is in her 21st season on The Farm and currently serves as the program's recruiting coordinator.

While Tara VanDerveer worked with the U.S. National/Olympic Team during the 1995-96 campaign, Tucker guided Stanford to a 29-3 overall record and fifth NCAA Final Four appearance in the 1990s. The Cardinal set a school and conference record with 23 consecutive victories, including a perfect 18-0 record in Pac-10 play and seventh conference title in eight seasons. For her efforts, Tucker was named UPI (United Press International) National Coach of the Year and Pacific-10 Conference Coach of the Year.

During Tucker's tenure, Stanford has won two NCAA titles and reached six Final Fours. The Cardinal has also reached the NCAA "Sweet Sixteen" in 13 of the last 18 seasons.

Prior to Stanford, Tucker was an assistant coach on VanDerveer's staff at Ohio State from 1983-85. In her first season on the staff, the Buckeyes advanced all the way to the NCAA Regional Finals.

As a player for the Buckeyes, Tucker twice led the team in scoring, and finished her career second on Ohio State's all-time scoring list. Tucker also set a school record for games played with 123. She was named team captain as a senior and led the squad to the Big Ten title. In 1994, Tucker was recognized for her achievements by being inducted into the Ohio State Sports Hall of Fame.

Tucker graduated with her bachelor's degree in social work from Ohio State in 1982. In 1984, she earned a Master's degree from Ohio State in sports management and administration.

Charmin Smith

Assistant Coach

"Charmin's enthusiasm and passion for the game of basketball is contagious. Her excitement and support always inspires me to work harder and harder. She makes me believe that anything is possible if we just try." – Krista Rappahahn

Charmin Smith begins her second season as an assistant on Tara VanDerveer's coaching staff. Smith, a 1997 graduate of Stanford, helped the Cardinal to three Pacific-10 conference titles and played in three NCAA Final Fours.

Smith, who was hired on May, 28, 2004, came back to Stanford after spending one season as an assistant at Boston College. Smith helped the Eagles to one of their most successful seasons in school history, as they won their first Big East Conference title, received their highest seed (No. 3) heading into the NCAA Tournament and advanced to the Midwest Regional Semifinals before falling to Minnesota.

Prior to her stint in Chestnut Hill, Mass., Smith played professionally for three years from 1999-2001 with the Seattle Storm and the Minnesota Lynx in the WNBA. Smith played for the Portland Power in the ABL from 1997-98 and she also spent one season in the Swedish Basketball League (2003). She also spent two seasons as a production assistant and editor with NBA Entertainment, where she aided in production of several national NBA broadcasts.

Smith was also involved in numerous community service activities, serving as a team spokesperson for the Seattle Storm. She was an integral part of the "Stormin' the Sound" initiative, a speaking program aimed at promoting the Storm to children's and adult groups.

A four-year letterwinner at Stanford, Smith earned her Bachelor's and Master's in civil and environmental engineering. She finished her collegiate career tied for first in the school record books for games played in a season with 36.

Kelly Clark, CSCS

Strength and Conditioning Coach

Kelly Clark joined the Cardinal staff this summer as the strength and conditioning coach for the women's basketball team. She arrives on The Farm after spending the past two years as a strength and conditioning coach at Cal.

As part of the Golden Bears' staff, Clark worked with women's basketball, volleyball, women's swimming and baseball. Clark also spent one season working with the track & field program.

Before her stint in Berkeley, Clark served as an assistant coach and strength coach for the Cal State Bakersfield women's basketball team in 2002-03, helping the Roadrunners to a 29-2 record and a Great Eight finish. Clark spent the previous season as a graduate assistant at Sacramento State while studying Kinesiology with an emphasis in strength and conditioning.

Clark earned her B.S. in Exercise Science, Emphasis Sports Psychology from the University of Idaho in 2001. She currently resides in Palo Alto with her husband, Jesse, and son, Jacob.

Eileen Roche

Director of Basketball Operations

Eileen Roche returns to The Farm in her first season as the Director of Basketball Operations. She will focus on scheduling, coordinating team events, practice times, community service and fundraising. Roche will also be the liaison to the Stanford boosters Fast Break

Club and will serve as Camp Director for Tara VanDerveer's summer basketball camps.

Prior to her arrival at Stanford, Roche was an Event Coordinator and Championship Director for the CIF-Central Coast Section (CCS), High School Athletic Championships, from 1990-2005. She also served as the CIF (California Interscholastic Federation) Nor-Cal Volleyball Director 1999-2005.

This is Roche's second stint at Stanford, as she served as an assistant coach from 1982-85 under the Cardinal's second head coach Dotty McCrea.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Roche grew up in Berkeley Heights, N.J. She earned her B.A. in Health Education and Physical Education from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1981. A three-sport athlete, Roche played basketball, field hockey and softball, earning 12 varsity letters as a Bishop. She was inducted into the Ohio Wesleyan University Athletic Hall Fame in 1989.

Roche resides in Redwood City with her husband Robert Broom and their two sons, Conor and Christian.

Heidi VanDerveer

Director of Video Operations

Heidi VanDerveer rejoins the Cardinal staff this season as the Director of Video Operations. VanDerveer, an 18-year coaching veteran, comes to Stanford after spending the 2004-05 season as an assistant and interim head coach at the University of San Francisco.

VanDerveer began her career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee under Pat Summitt, during which time the Lady Vols went to two Final Fours and won a National Championship. VanDerveer spent the next six seasons as an assistant coach at the University of South Carolina before accepting her first head coaching post at Eastern Washington.

In 1997, VanDerveer transitioned into the professional ranks, serving as the assistant coach with the Sacramento Monarchs in the WNBA during the league's inaugural season. VanDerveer was elevated to interim head coach for the final 13 games of the 1997 campaign and served as head coach for the 1998 season.

VanDerveer then moved on to an assistant position with the Minnesota Lynx where she spent four seasons, and in 2002 was once again elevated to head coach. She then worked as a WNBA Scout before her stint at USE.

VanDerveer earned her Bachelor's Degree in Political Science at the College of Charleston where she was a standout point guard and captained the squad as a senior. She earned her Master's Degree in Sports Psychology at Tennessee in 1988. Her sister, Tara, is the head coach of the Stanford Cardinal.

Tina Samaniego

Basketball Intern

Tina Samaniego begins her first season with the Stanford women's basketball program after serving as an assistant coach at Menlo College last year. Samaniego is pursuing her Masters in Kinesiology at San Jose State, while helping with the Cardinal program.

Samaniego helped Menlo College to a California Pacific Conference Tournament runner-up finish and a No. 5 NAIA ranking in defense.

Prior to her coaching stint at Menlo, Samaniego served as an assistant girls' basketball coach at Sacred Heart Cathedral in San Francisco for two years. Her squads won the Northern California Division III Championship in 2003 and finished as the runners-up the next season.

Samaniego, a native of Oxnard, California, graduated magna cum laude from the University of San Francisco in 2003 with a B.A. in exercise and Sport Science and a minor in Business Administration. She is the daughter of Judy and Danny Samaniego.

Marcella Shorty

Athletic Trainer

Marcella Shorty is in her fourth year as an Athletic trainer at Stanford University. Shorty, who has been a Division I women's basketball trainer since 1997, handles all the day-to-day medical needs of the Stanford women's basketball program.

Prior to her arrival at Stanford, Shorty served as an Assistant Athletic Trainer at Temple University from 1997-2002. She worked with the women's basketball, men's and women's soccer, baseball and softball programs and assisted with pre-season football.

Before joining the Owls staff, she was the head athletic trainer at Lower Merion High School in Ardmore, Pa., from 1994-97.

Shorty received a B.S. in Athletic Training from the University of New Mexico and then earned a Master's of Education in Athletic Training from Temple University.

Getting to Know Shelley Nweke

My nickname is: Big Shell, Chief

Stanford's basketball team will be fun to watch this year because: We'll be changing roles

What makes Maples Pavilion so special? History

The best thing about Stanford is: The people

My favorite food is: Whatever my mom makes

If I was going on a road trip, and could only take one CD, I would take:
One of my mixes

My favorite midnight snack is: I don't eat at midnight

My favorite movie is: Lord of the Rings, Love and Basketball, She's All That, The Sandlot

My favorite television show is: C-SPAN, America's Next Top Model

My earliest sports memory is: Ninth grade when I decided to see if I wanted to join the basketball team

My greatest athletic moment was: Fifteen blocks in one game

If I could bring anything from my hometown to Stanford it would be: My little brother

The place I would most like to visit is: Australia

The favorite place I've visited is: Florence

Ten years from now I hope to be: Retired and wealthy

The current or former Stanford athlete I most enjoy watching perform:
John McEnroe (his outbursts are hilarious)

If I had to cook all of my meals, I'd probably survive on: Lasagna

If I were not playing college basketball, I would: Be out campaigning

Favorite sport other than basketball: Trampoline (it's in the Olympics!)

The person who had the greatest influence in my career: Coach Ken Sprague (high school coach)

I never miss... Anything political on t.v.

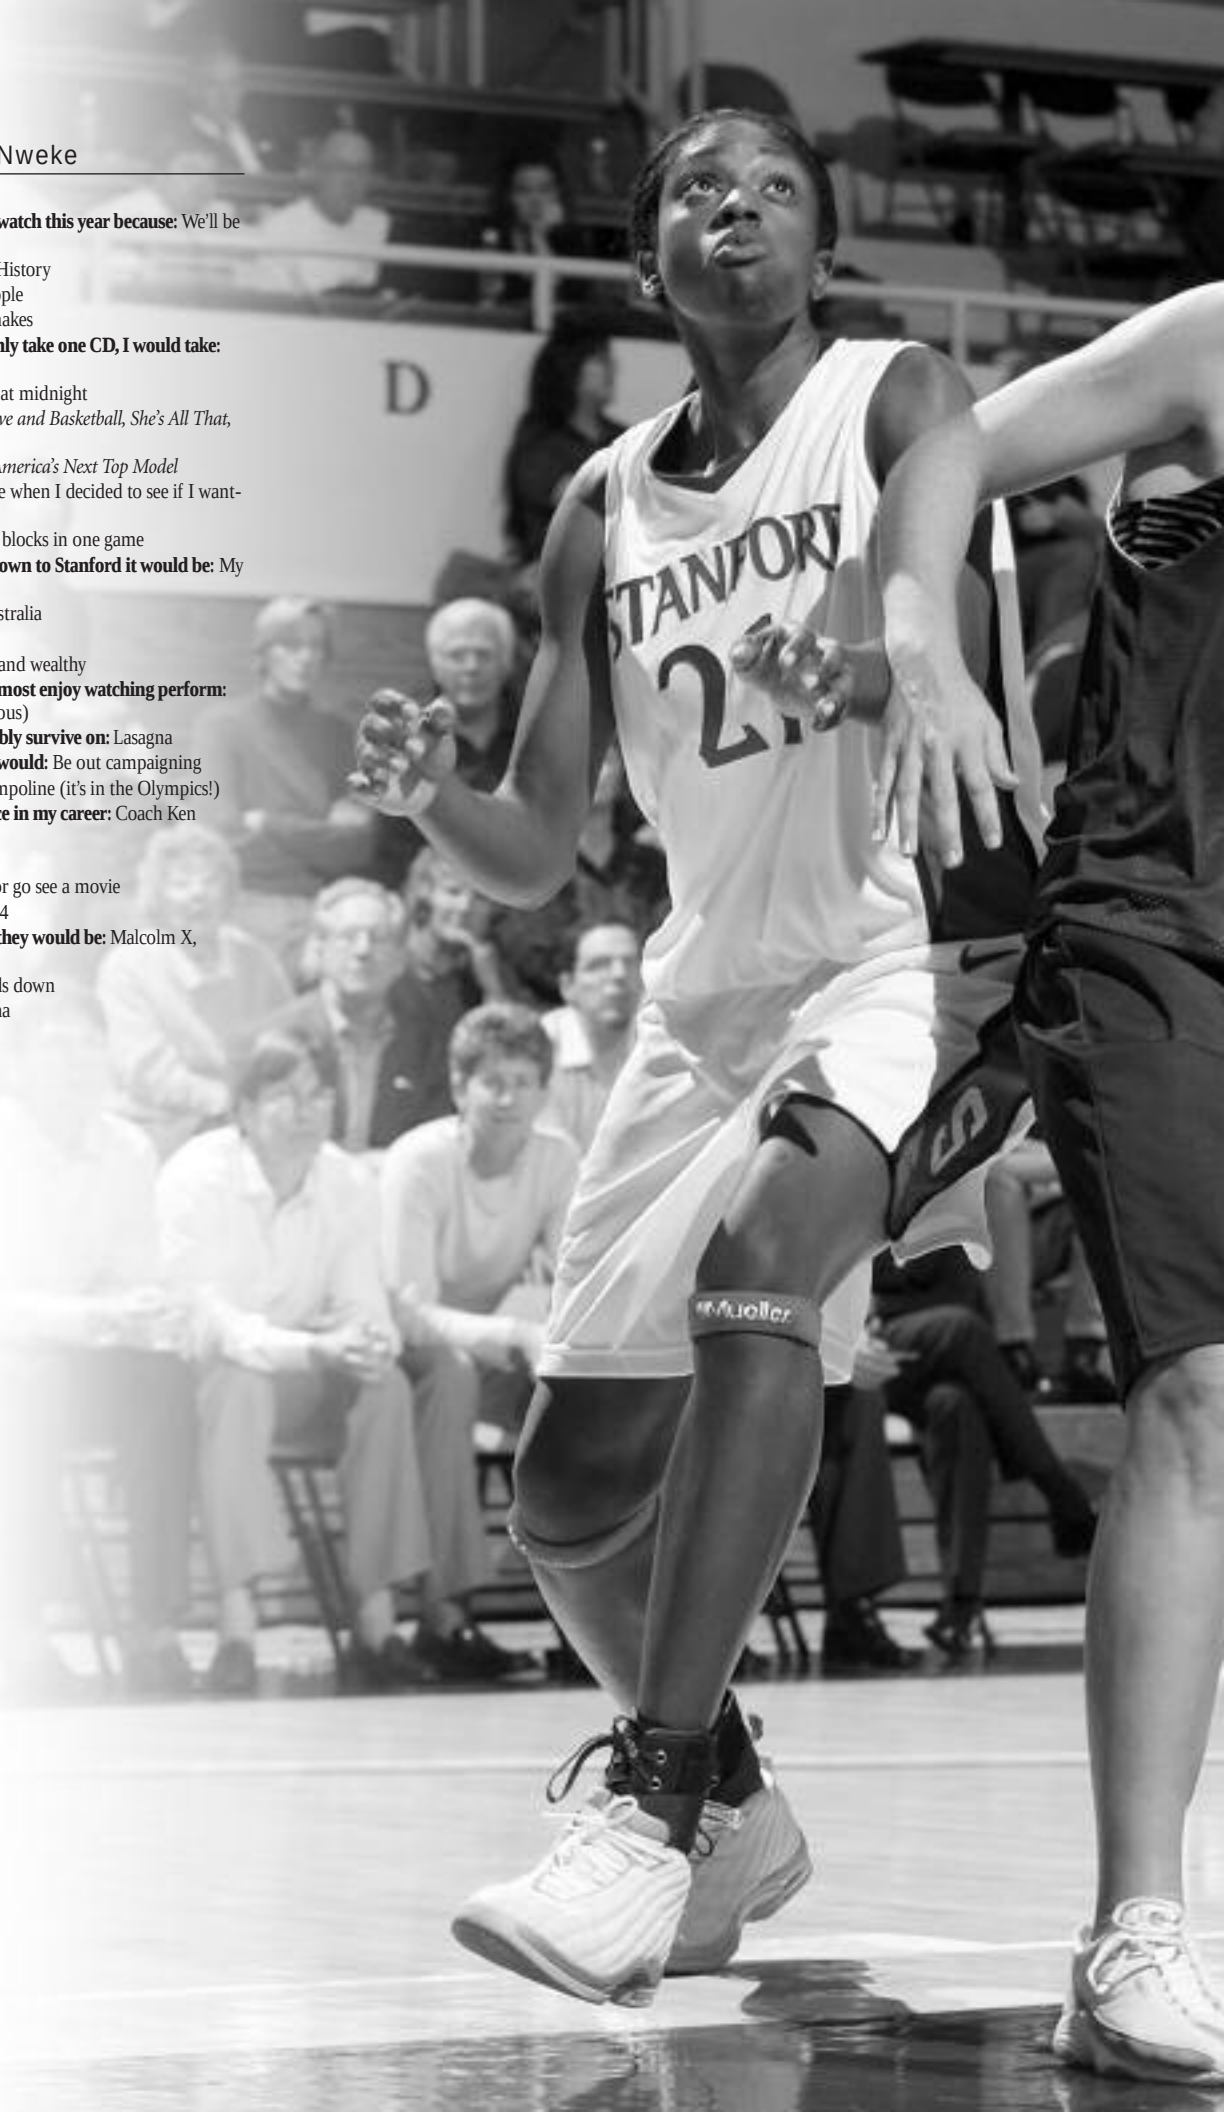

Favorite thing to do on an off day: Sleep or go see a movie

I started playing basketball when I was: 14

If I could have dinner with three people, they would be: Malcolm X, Leonardo DaVinci, Bill Clinton

Which teammate is the loudest? Ezi, hands down

Which teammate is the funniest? Markisha

Morgan Clyburn

6-4
Forward
Freshman
Undeclared Major
The Woodlands, Texas
Oak Ridge High School

"The best part of Morgan's game is her ability to improve. I was doing a lot of rehabbing this summer, so I was able to watch everyone play pick up. From the summer to September, Morgan has improved so much and is a force on the court with both skill and strength." – Rosalyn Gold-Onwude

"I most look forward to playing with Morgan this year because of the fact that I get to spend a lot of time with her!" – Jillian Harmon

At Stanford: A strong presence in the post ... Great face-up shot ... Will provide extra depth at forward for the Cardinal.

Stanford's Scholarship Funding

Two sources provide scholarship funds for Stanford's student-athletes: the Athletic Department's scholarship endowment and the Buck/Cardinal Club.

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are large sums of money that have been invested in the University's endowment and generate significant interest income each year. A portion of the income is spent on student aid and the remainder is reinvested in the principal.

The following endowed scholarships, named for the donor or for someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial grants-in-aid to members of the 2003 women's basketball team:

The Peter S. Bing Athletic Scholarship	Morgan Clyburn Eziamaka Okafor
The Alf E. Brandin Family Scholarship	Jillian Harmon
The Evelyn and Mark Dees Scholarship	Kristen Newlin
The Pauline and Glenn DeKraker Scholarship	Cissy Pierce
The E. Paul Eder Scholarship	Shelley Nweke
The Thomas W. Ford Family Scholarship	Brooke Smith
The Allan A. and Betsy Ann Harris Scholarship for Women	Clare Bodensteiner
The Arthur J. and Patricia R. Kates Scholarship	Christy Titchenal
The Joseph and Laurie Lacob Scholarship	Jillian Harmon
The Joan and Mel Lane Scholarship	Krista Rappahahn
The Martin Family Athletic Scholarship	Candice Wiggins
The Bowen H. and Janice Arthur McCoy Scholarship	Shelley Nweke
The McMurty Athletic Scholarship	Rosalyn Gold-Onwude
The Wes and Anne Warnock Poulson Scholarship	Shelley Nweke
The Ralph "Jim" Reynolds Memorial Scholarship	Markisha Coleman
The Jesse and Mindy Rodgers Family Athletic Scholarship	Christy Titchenal
The Cally Curtis Stenger Scholarship	Krista Rappahahn
The Vidalakis Family Athletic Scholarship	Kristen Newlin

Buck/Cardinal Club Annual Scholarships

Annual scholarships are expendable, annual gifts to the Buck/Cardinal Club that pay the education costs of a single student-athlete for three quarters of study.

Stanford Buck/Cardinal Club

Support for the Stanford basketball program, both financially and through volunteer work, comes from the University, Athletic Department and the Buck/Cardinal Club. Specifically, the Buck/Cardinal Club, and the endowed scholarship donors listed on the next page, provides 100% of basketball's scholarships. This commitment is essential for keeping Stanford basketball among the nation's top NCAA Division I programs.

The Buck/Cardinal Club is the organization that makes Stanford's athletic success possible. Since 1934, when four dedicated Stanford men formed the "Tiny Buck of the Month Club," with membership dues at $1 per month, the Buck/Cardinal Club has raised scholarship funds for worthy, capable and deserving Stanford student-athletes. Each year more than 6,000 alumni and friends of Stanford Athletics contribute nearly $3 million to put Stanford student-athletes on the field. Every dollar is given directly to Cardinal student-athletes in the form of athletic scholarships.

Because the Athletic Department does not receive money from general University funds to support intercollegiate athletic scholarships, the work of the Buck/Cardinal Club is essential to maintain Stanford's position atop the collegiate athletic world.

2005-06 Stanford Buck/Cardinal Club

Almost $3 million is raised annually in scholarship funds through the gifts of the Buck/Cardinal Club's 6,000 members. For more information about the Buck/Cardinal Club, please call (650) 723-5361.

Stanford Tradition

Stanford Women's Basketball Tradition

"Stanford afforded me the opportunity to have the best of both the academic and athletic worlds. I cherished the chance to continuously grow and learn, constantly striving to be the best 'me' I could be. Stanford provided the perfect environment for me to challenge myself and reach my goals, while simultaneously allowing me to enjoy the ride."

—Kristin Folk, Economics (1995)

"Of all the things that basketball has given me, the thing I value most, by far, is my education at Stanford."

—Kate Starbird, Computer Science (1997)

"My Stanford education has opened many doors for me and has given me instant credibility for anything I've been interested in."

—Sarah Evans-Moore, Economics (1986)

"After teaching at Stanford for almost 20 years, I am still in awe of the Cardinal athletes. They are typically among the most confident, focused and well-balanced students with whom I come into contact, and as a result, it is great fun to have them in class. Their accomplishments (both as undergraduates and graduates) are exceptional even among Stanford students, a pretty exceptional bunch. I am thrilled for my daughter to have the chance to be part of this wonderful group."

Stanford captured its first NCAA Women's Basketball Title in 1989-90, going 32-1 and outscoring its opponents by over 26 points a game.

In the 1990's, Stanford went to the Final Four six times, more than any other school in the nation, and won two national titles.

For a program on a very quick ascent, 1989-90 would be the breakthrough year for Stanford women's basketball.

In her fifth year as head coach, Tara VanDerveer and her staff knew that all the ingredients were in place for a championship team. Great post play, an exceptional back court, good scoring balance, and solid leadership. The question was, "just how good would they be?"

Entering the season with a #3 ranking, the Cardinal answered that question by spinning off 20 consecutive wins to start the year. Then, after suffering their only loss of the season to the University of Washington, Stanford wrapped up the season with 12 straight victories – including five postseason wins and Stanford's first-ever National Championship.

While the Cardinal compiled an impressive 32-1 record and won the Pacific-10 Championship with a 17-1 conference mark, those numbers hardly begin to tell the story. The Cardinal simply dominated everyone. Averaging over 92 points per game, Stanford topped 100 points on 10 different occasions and outscored its opponents by an average of more than 26 points per game. They controlled the boards with an average of over 43 rebounds per contest and had five players scoring between 12 and 18 points a game.

Stanford was fortunate in that one of those players was a shooting guard named Jennifer Azzi. Azzi was the consensus NCAA Player of the Year, winning the Naismith Award, the Wade Trophy and the Honda-Broderick Award. She shot 49.7 percent from the floor, 79.8 percent from the line, an impressive 44.2 from 3-point land and was the heart and soul of the team. But she was joined in the back court by First-Team All-Pac-10 selection Sonja Henning who led the conference with 221 assists. Forward Katy Steding – who would eventually join Azzi on the 1996 gold medal winning USA Basketball team – averaged over 15 points and almost seven rebounds per game. She and C/F Trisha Stevens (17.6 ppg/5.9

rpg) led the team in scoring and joined forward Julie Zeilstra (13.8 ppg/6.1 rpg) to complete one of Stanford's all-time best front courts.

The Cardinal got their first big test in just their fourth game when #2 Tennessee came to Maples Pavilion. Sonja Henning led the way with game-highs in points (23), rebounds (6) and assists (9) as Stanford sent the Volunteers to a 14-point defeat. A couple weeks later, the Cardinal would improve its record to 12-0 with a 40-point win over #7 Washington.

Averaging over 92 points per game, Stanford topped 100 points on 10 different occasions and outscored its opponents by an average of more than 26 points per game.

After its lone loss of the year (81-78 at Washington), only one team would get closer than 26 points to the Cardinal until the Final Four. In fact, Stanford outscored the opposition by an average of more than 15 points throughout the entire NCAA Tournament.

Heading into the NCAA Tournament, Stanford's record stood at 27-1 and they received a bye in the first round. The Cardinal put a quick end to #16 Hawaii's visit to the mainland, disposing of the Rainbows 106-76 in the second round behind a career-high 35 points from Stevens. With the West Regional being held at Maples Pavilion, Stanford beat both #24 Mississippi (78-65) and #22 Arkansas (114-87) on its way to the Final Four.

The Cardinal met #12 Virginia in the semifinals at Knoxville, Tennessee and came away with a nine-point win behind a very balanced scoring attack. Two days later, in front of a then-largest crowd ever to watch a women's basketball tournament game (20,023), Stanford beat #9 Auburn 88-81 to claim the team's first NCAA Championship.

Stanford defeated Auburn 88-81 to win the NCAA crown.

1991-92 NCAA Championship Team

Stanford 78
Western Kentucky 62

The 1991-92 NCAA Women's Basketball Championships was held in Los Angeles, California

The 1991-92 Stanford women's basketball team won an NCAA title, its second in three years. That title, most would say, was unexpected. Stanford had lost three very talented First-Team All-Pac-10 performers from the '90-'91 campaign, they only had one senior on the roster, and were simply not deemed ready to challenge for another NCAA championship quite yet.

But that philosophy changed early in the season – when Stanford defeated defending champion Tennessee (96-95 in overtime) in a well-played game in December. Suddenly, anything was within the realm of possibility.

The team, itself, had an interesting feel. On one hand, it was an experienced club, considering eight of the 13 team members had played in one or more Final Fours. On the other hand, it was a very young team, as evidenced by the fact that there was only one senior on the squad. But leadership and work ethic became the identity of this team.

At the forefront was a determined backcourt composed of junior point guard Molly Goodenbour (12.3 ppg/5.4 apg) and sophomore shooting guard Christy Hedgepeth (13.3 ppg/2.2 apg). Goodenbour, named the NCAA Final Four MVP and NCAA West Regional MVP, was fiercely composed and constantly pushed the tempo of her team and the game. The young Hedgepeth provided the Cardinal with a long range threat and dead-eye accuracy from the field.

Despite the flashy guard play, it was Stanford's center, Val Whiting, who stole the show. Whiting led the team with an average of 18.5 points per game and 9.1 rebounds. She was named Pac-10 Player of the Year and was a consensus First-Team All-

America as a junior.

Behind those great players, as well as forwards Rachel Hemmer (11.2 ppg, 6.7 rpg) and Chris MacMurdo (10.9 ppg, 5.5 rpg), the Cardinal put together a 25-3 regular season record and went into the NCAA tournament with confidence.

The Final wasn't even close.

Stanford's 78-62 drubbing of #15 Western Kentucky tied the record for the largest margin of victory in an NCAA women's championship game.

In the end, the Cardinal put it all together with five strong efforts in the NCAA Tournament.

VanDerveer's troops defeated #31 UC Santa Barbara (82-73) to advance to Seattle, Washington for the West Regionals, where they beat #12 Texas Tech (75-63) and #23 USC (82-62). Then, at the Final Four in Los Angeles, the Cardinal drew #1 Virginia in the semifinals and sneaked out with a 66-65 victory. And the final wasn't even close. Stanford's 78-62 drubbing of #15 Western Kentucky tied the record for the largest margin of victory in an NCAA women's championship game.

Finishing 30-3 overall and 15-3 in the Pac-10, Stanford won its fourth straight Pac-10 title. It marked the Cardinal's fifth consecutive appearance in the NCAA Tournament, second NCAA Championship in three years and third straight Final Four appearance.

Stanford in the Final Four

1990-91 Stanford's Final Four Team

The 1990-91 Final Four Team

1990-91

This team lost two All-Pac-10 performers and their first guard off the bench to graduation. One of those All-Pac-10 players was National Player of the Year, Jennifer Azzi, and the other one was National Team member Katy Steding. Yet, expectations were high and the results were remarkable.

The 1990-91 version of the Cardinal advanced to the Final Four for the second consecutive season and found themselves sandwiched between two NCAA championship teams in Stanford history.

Stanford ended the season 26-6 overall and 16-2 in the Pac-10. They won their third straight conference title and lost a heartbreaker to the eventual national champion Tennessee Volunteers in the semifinals of the NCAA tournament, 68-60.

Had Stanford not been so decimated by injuries, it may have had a chance to beat Tennessee in the semifinal game and try for its second straight title. But leading scorer Julie Zeilstra (calf muscle pull four minutes before game time) and center Trisha Stevens (patella tendon in her right knee) were severely hampered in the final game of the season.

The 1994-95 Final Four Team

1994-95

The 1994-95 Stanford women's basketball team was young. Very young. In fact, Coach VanDerveer brought in six freshman and the team's leading scorer was a sophomore. But the Cardinal had a deep bench and they were good. Very good.

Led by guard Kate Starbird (16.0 ppg), Stanford compiled a 30-3 record, won the Pac-10 crown (17-1) and advanced to the NCAA Final Four. This time, they lost to the eventual national champion UConn Huskies in the semifinals.

A good deal of credit must be given to the seniors on the team, guard Kate Paye, forward Rachel Hemmer and center Anita Kaplan. Not only did those three players produce on the court, but they led the younger players by example.

The younger players responded. Two of Stanford's top five scorers in the '94-'95 season were freshmen Kristin Folkl (9.5 ppg) and Naomi Mulitauaopele (7.3 ppg.) Only two players on the roster played less than 250 minutes and three players had over 100 assists.

1995-96 Stanford's Final Four Team

The 1995-96 Final Four Team

1995-96

The 1995-96 Stanford basketball team had quite a new look to it. Head Coach Tara VanDerveer took a one-year hiatus to coach the USA National Team/1996 USA Olympic Basketball Team. Three starters from the year before were lost to graduation. Their third leading scorer, Kristin Folk, took time off to play for the U.S. Olympic Volleyball Team.

Head coach Amy Tucker and co-head coach Marianne Stanley guided the Cardinal in 1995-96 and filled the graduation void with young players. The Cardinal rolled off an 18-0 conference record, winning its seventh Pac-10 championship in the last eight years. They finished 29-3 overall and made their fifth trip to the NCAA Final Four.

Led by junior Kate Starbird's 20.1 ppg, Stanford won 23 consecutive games before dropping an 86-76 semifinal game to #5 Georgia in front of 23,291 fans.

The 1996-97 Final Four Team

1996-97

Everyone was back. The return of 10 players from the previous season, head coach Tara VanDerveer's return, and back-to-back Final Four appearances made the Cardinal an attractive preseason favorite.

Early on, Stanford's season was highlighted by defeating eventual national champion Tennessee in Thompson-Boling Arena, the first time a Cardinal squad had done so. However, in the next game at Old Dominion, Stanford's winning streak was halted in an 83-66 loss. The Cardinal later won a conference record 25 straight games, taking the team into the Final Four. There, the team's season ended in a heartbreaking overtime loss to Old Dominion, 83-82.

The Cardinal finished the season with a second consecutive 18-0 conference mark, and eighth Pac-10 Championship in the last nine years. Overall, the Cardinal posted a 34-2 record, setting a new conference record for most wins in a season. The team's sixth Final Four run was led by senior Kate Starbird, who averaged 20.9 points and set a new school career points record with 2,215.

Kate Paye lettered from 1992-95, and was 13-3 in four NCAA Tournament appearances, including a national title in 1992.

Jennifer Azzi proudly wears the Olympic Gold Medal as a member of the 1996 U.S. Olympic Team in Atlanta. She now plays for the San Antonio Silver Stars of the WNBA, and led the league in 3-point percentage in 2001 (51.4).

Katy Steding joined fellow Cardinal Jennifer Azzi to lead USA Basketball to a perfect 60-0 record and gold medal during 1995-96. She played professionally for the Portland Power of the ABL and now the Seattle Storm and Sacramento Monarchs of the WNBA.

Stanford Players and USA Basketball

Stanford has sent several players overseas to play in international competitions with USA Basketball. In the past several years, Stanford team members have traveled to China, Taiwan, Brazil, Spain, Hungary, the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Japan, Germany, Malaysia, England, Cuba, Canada, Belgium, France, Korea, Italy, Argentina, the Czech Republic, New Zealand and the Dominican Republic.

In 1995-96, Stanford alums Jennifer Azzi and Katy Steding along with Tara VanDerveer racked up over 100,000 miles in travel as part of the USA National/Olympic Team. The squad posted an undefeated record through the international tour and the Olympics, earning a gold medal in Atlanta. Azzi and Steding are familiar with international play, as both participated on tours while at Stanford and played professionally in Europe after graduation.

Besides Azzi and Steding, Sonja Henning (1990, 1991) and Anita Kaplan (1994) have also played for U.S. National Teams. Additionally, several players have competed as part of the U.S. National World Qualifying Games, U.S. Pan American and U.S. Junior National Select teams.

Last summer, Stanford sophomore Candice Wiggins spent her second summer with the USA Basketball Junior National Team, as she helped the squad capture first place in Tunis, Tunisia. Wiggins was picked to captain the team and was named to the five-member All-U19 World Championship Team, after finishing the tournament averaging 15.8 points per game, while shooting 57.1 percent (44-77 FGs) from the field and 42.9 (18-42 3pt FGs) from three-point range. Junior Brooke Smith also competed for the U.S. at the World University Game, where she helped the Americans bring home their second gold medal for women's basketball.

Prior to her arrival on The Farm in August 2004, Wiggins captained the USA Basketball Junior National Team and helped the squad take gold at the FIBA America's Junior World Championship Qualifying Tournament in Puerto Rico.

In 2002, guard Kelley Suminski was invited to the qualifying trials for the USA Basketball World Championship for Young Women Team. And in 2001, Cori Enghusen and Lindsey Yamasaki helped the U.S. win gold at the World University Games in China. Stanford was one of only two schools to have two or more players on the 12-person roster.

"We encourage our players to compete during the summer," said VanDerveer. "I'm very proud of our players' achievements. We are honored when any one of our players is chosen to compete on an all-star team – especially if it is for a team that can travel internationally. It provides a great learning experience in so many ways."

Several other Stanford players have seen playing and coaching time overseas after graduation, including: Bethany Donaphin (Turkey), Cori Enghusen (South Korea), Carolyn Moos (France), Kate Starbird (France, Austria, Spain), Val Whiting (Brazil, Italy), Trisha Stevens (Japan), Julie Zeilstra (Japan), Sue Sebolt (Norway), Evon Asforis (Spain), Sonja Henning (Sweden), Heather Owen (Japan), Vanessa Nygaard (France), Rachel Hemmer (France), Kristin Folk (Australia), Katy Steding (Spain, Japan) and Leslie Crandell (coach – Japan).

Cardinal players have not had to wait to see international play until after graduation. Numerous individuals have participated on all-star teams. In 1996, Naomi Mulitauaopele joined other Pac-10 players for a tour of Japan. In addition to Mulitauaopele, five Stanford players have traveled with the Pac-10 to foreign lands: Kate Paye (1992, Belgium), Whiting (1991, Taiwan), Chris MacMurdo (1990, Germany), Steding (1989, Hungary) and Azzi (1988, Taiwan).

Junior Brooke Smith competed for the U.S. at the World University Games, where she helped the Americans bring home their second gold medal in women's basketball.

Susan King Borchardt made her WNBA debut with the Minnesota Lynx in 2005.

Nicole Powell helped the Sacramento Monarchs to a WNBA Championship in 2005.

Olympia Scott-Richardson played for the Charlotte Sting in 2004 before joining the Monarchs.

Kate Starbird played in the WNBA from 1999-2002, and returned in 2004 to play for the Indiana Fever.

Stanford Goes Cardinal Gains International Experience Overseas

The women's basketball team visited Italy in September of 2003.

The group poses in front of Tivoli Fountain in Rome.

Year after year, the Stanford women's basketball program has made a big impression overseas. The summer of 2003 was a prime example when the Cardinal embarked on its fifth foreign tour in the last 20 years.

The Cardinal traveled to Italy from September 11-22, and played exhibition games against professional teams in Rome, Florence, Venice and Como. Besides playing Italy's best on the hardwood, the team also experienced many of the country's tourist attractions, such as the Vatican and the Colosseum.

"The trip to Italy was a memorable one," Stanford head coach Tara VanDerveer said. "It provided experiences that our team will never forget."

In addition to traveling to Italy in both 1996 and 2003, Stanford teams have also participated in summer tours to New Zealand (1984), China (1988) and France (1992).

The team visited the Colosseum in Rome.

CURRENT PLAYERS IN BOLD CAPS.

Mariah "Maggie" Nelson Burton wore three different jersey numbers in her Stanford career; #14 in 1975 and 1976, #12 in 1977 and #41 in 1978.

Sonja Henning

While at Stanford, Sonja Henning began her career by winning the Women's Basketball News Service Collegiate Freshman Player of the year in 1988. She went on to be a Kodak First-Team All-American and an NCAA Women's All-Final Four selection in her senior season. She was named All-Pac-10 for three-consecutive years (1989-91), and helped Stanford accumulate a 113-15 record, helping the Cardinal to its first NCAA Championship in 1990. Henning was a member of the U.S. Goodwill Games and the U.S. World Games in 1990, and a U.S. Pan-Am team player in 1991. While on the National Team, Henning helped the U.S. to a world championship in 1990.

Jennifer Azzi

While at Stanford, Jennifer Azzi was the 1990 Naismith National Player of the Year, as well as winner of the Wade Trophy and Honda-Broderick Award. Azzi was a Kodak First Team All-American and Pac-10 Player of the Year in 1988 and 1989. Azzi averaged 14.7 points, 3.8 rebounds and 6.1 assists per game for the Cardinal during her career, as the Cardinal accumulated a 101-23 record, two Pac-10 championships and its first NCAA Championship.

After her Stanford career, Azzi's basketball success continued, as she was a member the gold-medal winning 1996 U.S. Olympic team. While on the U.S. National Team, Azzi was a world champion in 1990 and 1998, a World Championship bronze medalist in 1994, and a Goodwill Games gold medalist.

Azzi played professionally overseas, in the ABL and in the WNBA until retiring in 2003.

Val Whiting

Val Whiting was a two-time Kodak First-Team All-American, and a two-time James Naismith Player of the Year Finalist in 1992 and 1993. She began her career for the Cardinal by being named Pac-10 Freshman of the Year and National Freshman of the Year by Women's Basketball News Service in 1990. She was an NCAA All-Final Four selection in 1992, and All-Pac-10 in 1992 and 1993. During her career, Stanford accumulated a 114-16 record and won four-consecutive Pac-10 Championships and two NCAA Championships in 1990 and 1992. At the time that she finished her career, she was Stanford's all-time leading scorer with 2,077 points and the top-rebounder with 1,134 rebounds.

Kate Starbird

Kate Starbird won the James Naismith National Player of the Year in 1997 and was a Kodak First-Team All-American in 1996 and 1997. Starbird was tabbed All-Pac-10 in both 1995 and 1996, and helped the Cardinal to three-consecutive Pac-10 Championships (1995-97). She helped Stanford to a 118-14 record with three Final Four appearances. She averaged 16.9 points per game, 3.9 rebounds, and 3.3 assists, as Starbird finished her career at Stanford as the all-time high scorer with 2,215 points, a record that still stands.

Kristin Folkl

In her senior season, Kristin Folkl was named a Kodak First-Team All-American, a Naismith Player of the Year Finalist, and a GTE/COSIDA Academic All-American Second-Team. Folkl was chosen as an All-Pac-10 Freshman in 1995 and was all-conference in 1998. She wrapped up her collegiate basketball career leading the team in scoring and rebounds with 18.9 points and 9.2 rebounds per game her senior year. Folkl helped the Cardinal to two Final Four appearances and three Pac-10 Championships. Folkl also competed on the Stanford volleyball team helping the Cardinal to three NCAA Championships in 1994, 1996 and 1997.

Nicole Powell

Nicole Powell was a Kodak First-Team All-American and a finalist for the James Naismith Player of the Year for three-consecutive years (2002-04). She began her career with the Cardinal as Pac-10 Freshman of the Year in 2000 and was named Conference Player of the Year in 2002 and 2004. Powell helped Stanford accumulate a 105-26 record over her four years, as she averaged 17.3 points, 9.6 rebounds and 4.8 assists for the Cardinal. She is Stanford's all-time leader in career rebounds (1,143) and third all-time leading scorer (2,062 points). Powell is the only player in Pac-10 history to have recorded more than one career triple-double, tallying six in her career.

After graduating from Stanford in 2004, Powell became the Cardinal's highest draft pick, as the Charlotte Sting selected her with the third pick in the WNBA Draft. In her second season, she aided the Sacramento Monarchs title run in 2005 and was chosen as the WNBA's Most Improved Player.

Candice Wiggins

Candice Wiggins, a sophomore guard, led the Cardinal in scoring and steals as Stanford advanced to the Elite Eight and captured its fifth-straight Pac-10 title in 2004-05. Wiggins scored 17.3 points per game in her debut season as the Cardinal went 32-3. In addition to her Kodak All-America honor, Wiggins was also named the U.S. Basketball Writers Association Co-Freshman of the Year, the Pac-10 Freshman and Player of the Year, and earned Second-Team All-America accolades from the Associated Press.

The Cardinal won its second National Title in 1992.

Home of Champions

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

More than one hundred years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is an hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few miles north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, sports facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Paris, Kyoto, Santiago, Berlin, Oxford, Florence, and Moscow.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers approximately 1,700 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 16 Nobel laureates, 4 Pulitzer Prize winners, 21 National Medal of Science winners, 132 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 223 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 80 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 23 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African American, Asian American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Eighty-four Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars, 66 have been named Marshall Scholars, and 48 have been named Truman Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 34 Division I varsity sports – equally divided between men's and women's teams. Of Stanford's 101 national team titles, 50 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games, 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney – by far the most of any university in the nation – and 42 Stanford athletes competed at the 2004 Games in Athens. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care." Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day ... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Stanford University still enjoys the original 8,100 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy.

Beyond the Campus

San Francisco Bay Area

Gateway to the San Francisco Bay Area and Beyond

From bustling cosmopolitan cities to quiet coastal retreats, the San Francisco Bay Area is incomparable. First-class attractions, world-class athletics, cultural diversity, remarkable skylines and breathtaking views make this region one of the world's most popular destinations.

And at the hub of this great region is Stanford University, located within an hour's drive of San Francisco to the north, Silicon Valley to the south and the coastal cities which line the Pacific Ocean to the west.

San Francisco has been named the world's top city twice and the country's top city on seven occasions. Surrounded by three sides of the Pacific Ocean and San Francisco Bay, San Francisco's compact 46 square miles crowd the tip of the San Francisco Peninsula. "The City" has a population of 730,000 and is the centerpiece of the San Francisco Bay Area, which is the nation's fifth largest metropolitan region and registers a population of over six million and hosts over 16 million visitors each year.

The City is a cultural wonderland, an ethnic treasure chest where custom, tradition and history are preserved, celebrated and shared. From the vibrant counterculture in Haight-Ashbury to the young and glamorous tech survivors in their South of Market lofts, San Francisco is a golden dream come true.

Visitors and residents of San Francisco have a playground of diversity at their fingertips. Fisherman's Wharf, a must-see for all, includes waterfront marketplaces such as PIER 39, The Cannery and Ghiradelli Square. Golden Gate Park, Chinatown, North Beach, Union Square, Pacific Bell Park, the Embarcadero Center and, world famous cable cars and trolleys are just an example of what The City has to offer. The Golden Gate Bridge, San Francisco's signature landmark, looms as the gateway to the City by the Bay.

Just outside of the immediate Bay Area, Yosemite is a favorite destination.

San Francisco Bay is renown for excellent conditions for both boating and windsurfing.

Pebble Beach on the Monterey Peninsula near Carmel.

To the south of Stanford are Santa Clara and San Jose, the anchors to the Silicon Valley. Computer firms and software companies can be found throughout the region, which is considered the leader among the world's high technology industry. Lest you think that the valley is all business, though, spend a day at Paramount's Great America, delve into the wonders of technology at the Tech Museum of Innovation or explore the Winchester Mystery House.

One of the world's great stretches of coastline is located within a short drive from Stanford University. To the south is the Monterey Peninsula, which includes the picturesque coastal towns of Monterey, Carmel and Santa Cruz. The Monterey Bay Aquarium, Cannery Row and 17-Mile Drive along Pebble Beach are musts for visitors.

And if you bring your golf clubs, some of most famous golf courses can be found on the Monterey Peninsula, including Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point. The Beach Boardwalk, which features a historic wooden roller coaster, is located along the coast in Santa Cruz.

Further north along the coast is Half Moon Bay, Princeton-by-the-Bay, San Francisco and Marin County, located just across the Golden Gate Bridge. A short ferryboat ride past Alcatraz Island are the coastal towns of Tiburon, Larkspur and Sausalito.

Stanford Athletics Home of Champions

“Home of Champions.” Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980's. NCAA team champions. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves: Stanford University has won 73 NCAA team championships since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 50 NCAA championships since 1990 – again the most in the nation. Stanford has brought home 29 NCAA championship trophies the past seven years, including an unprecedented six NCAA team titles in 1996-97. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles – an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

Even more impressive is Stanford's string of 11 consecutive NACDA Directors' Cup titles (1995-05). The award honors the nation's top overall athletic program and with 11 straight victories in the competition, it is no wonder Stanford is considered the dominant athletic program in the nation.

Stanford captured its 11th straight Directors' Cup in 2004-05. The Cardinal won a total of three national team crowns (two NCAA) in synchronized swimming (U.S. Collegiate), women's tennis and women's volleyball. Stanford had a total of 16 Top 10 finishes with lightweight crew, women's cross country, men's swimming, women's swimming, men's water polo and women's water polo joining the national champions in the Top Five. The Cardinal also picked up nine individual national titles (seven NCAA) and 13 team conference championships.

Stanford has now won at least one NCAA team championship for 28 straight years. Cardinal teams have also won four or more NCAA team titles in a single year nine times, an NCAA best.

All totaled, Stanford has won 101 collegiate team titles (90 NCAA championships) and 391 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 33 team championships while men's teams have captured 57 NCAA team titles, third-best in the nation. Overall, Stanford's 90 NCAA team championships rank second in the nation.

In the last 12 years (since 1993-94), Stanford has claimed 41 national team championships and 37 NCAA team titles – the best in the country.

The best athletic year in school history arguably came in 1996-97 when Cardinal teams set an NCAA record by winning six NCAA team championships in a single academic year: men's and women's cross country; men's and women's volleyball; and men's and women's tennis. Nine other teams finished in the Top Four nationally, including second-place finishes in women's swimming, men's swimming, men's water polo and women's synchronized swimming. Stanford also posted third-place finishes in women's basketball, baseball and fencing, as well as fourth place finishes in women's golf and women's water polo. In addition, the Stanford co-ed sailing team added a ICYRA national championship.

The 1996-97 school year also saw the Cardinal football team advance to the Sun Bowl, the women's basketball team return to the Final Four, the baseball team qualify for the College World Series and the men's basketball team advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since it won the 1942 NCAA title.

Not only has the Cardinal won an NCAA record six NCAA team championships in a single season (1996-97), but it has also won five NCAA titles in a single year on three occasions: 1991-92, '94-95 and '97-98. Cardinal teams have won four championships in a single academic year on five occasions: 1985-86, '86-87, '92-93, '93-94 and 2001-02.

Stanford has won 173 conference or regional titles since 1991, again the best in the country. Cardinal teams won a record 18 conference or regional championships in 1998-99 – by far the best performance of any school in the nation.

Another memorable moment came in 1999-2000 when the Cardinal football, men's basketball and baseball teams won at least a share of their respective Pac-10 titles for the first time in school history.

Stanford has simply dominated in several sports. The Cardinal men's tennis team has won 17 NCAA titles while the women's squad has hauled in 15 national titles. Other programs to have brought in at least five national titles include men's water polo (11), women's swimming (9), men's swimming (8), men's golf (7) and women's volleyball (6).

Stanford has also enjoyed unequalled success in Olympic competition. Stanford was represented by 43 affiliates at the most recent Olympic Games that took place in 2004 in Athens, Greece. The Cardinal totaled 17 medals (three gold, seven silver, seven bronze).

At the 2000 Summer Games in Sydney, Australia, Stanford was represented by a total of 34 athletes and coaches. The Cardinal contingent won a total of 10 medals – four gold, three silver and three bronze.

At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic teams, including three head United States Olympic coaches (Tara VanDerveer, women's basketball; Richard Quick, women's swimming; Skip Kenney, men's swimming). Stanford athletes accounted for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze in Atlanta.

At the 1992 Games in Barcelona, Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals – 10 gold, four silver and five bronze. If Stanford were a country, it would've placed 13th in the world with its 19 medals and ninth with 10 golds. Thirty-eight Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participated in Barcelona while 41 members of the Cardinal family took part in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea.

Olympic gold medalists are numerous on The Farm. Former Cardinal standout Bob Mathias won back-to-back Olympic decathlon gold medals in 1948 and '52, while swimmers Pablo Morales, Jenny Thompson, Summer Sanders, Janet Evans and Misty Hyman have become household names in the swimming world.

Morales, who helped Stanford win three straight NCAA team championships (1985-87), won three medals at the 1984 Games in Los Angeles (one gold, two silver) and two more gold medals at the 1992 Games in Barcelona. Evans won three golds in the 1988 Games in Seoul, and one gold and one silver in Barcelona, while Sanders won four medals in Barcelona; two gold, one silver and one bronze. Thompson is the most decorated athlete in Olympic history with 12 medals (eight gold, three silver, one bronze). Hyman added her name to the list of Stanford swimming greats by winning the 2000 Olympic gold medal in the 200 meter butterfly to pull off one of the biggest upsets of the Sydney Olympiad.

A list of the great student-athletes in the history of Stanford Athletics would be difficult to even come close to compiling but a few of the great names in the amazing history of Stanford Athletics include Tom Watson and Tiger Woods (golf); Tim Mayotte, John McEnroe and Roscoe Tanner (men's tennis); Kristin Klein, Ogonna Nnamani, Kim Oden and Logan Tom (women's volleyball); Kristin Folk (women's basketball/volleyball); Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball); Julie Foudy (women's soccer); Hank Luisetti, Brevin Knight and Mark Madsen (men's basketball); Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball); Jim Plunkett, John Elway and Troy Walters (football); Debi Thomas (figure skating); Eric Heiden (speed skating) and the great Ernie Nevers (football); just to name a few.

It's no wonder Stanford University is often referred to as the "NCAA's Champion of Champions."

Women's:	33
Other National Championships:	11

Two in a row for the baseball team as coach Mark Marquess guided Stanford to College World Series titles in 1987 and 1988.

NCAA championships are commonplace at Stanford University. Cardinal teams have won NCAA championships at an unprecedented rate, including a national-best 73 since 1980 and 50 titles since 1990. Stanford has won at least one NCAA team championship for 29 consecutive years and has won at least four national titles in a single season nine times – again an NCAA best.

Stanford has won 18 national titles in men's tennis, 15 in women's tennis, 11 in men's water polo, nine in women's swimming, eight in men's swimming and seven in men's golf, among others. Nine Cardinal teams have won national championships.

Stanford Athletics has won 101 national championships. In NCAA competition, Cardinal teams have won 90 team titles, including 57 men's championships and an NCAA-best 33 women's titles.

Maples Pavilion

Home of Stanford Basketball

With seats full of enthusiastic Stanford fans, Maples Pavilion is a difficult stop for opposing teams.

One of the best environments for college basketball is Maples Pavilion at Stanford University. Built in 1969, Maples Pavilion has been host to several of the top collegiate games in the nation.

Maples Pavilion, which underwent a $26-million renovation that was completed last year, is ushering in a new era of great basketball that benefits both student-athletes and fans alike. Maples Pavilion serves as home for not only the nationally-ranked men's and women's basketball teams, but the nationally-ranked women's volleyball program as well.

The renovation, financed entirely through private donations, enhances the college athletic experience for both the student-athletes and the fans. It includes a new covered 29,000 square foot concourse around the exterior of the seating area, state-of-the-art concession and restroom facilities with speaker systems, in addition to a new four-sided, state-of-the-art, center-hung scoreboard with video and replay capability. The concourse will be physically separated from the original building. The gap between the original building and the new concourse was done for two reasons; first to preserve the integrity of the architectural design and secondly to create an open garden feel that is present throughout buildings on the Stanford campus. The renovation also includes new playing court floor, upgraded locker rooms, student-athlete lounges, a state-of-the-art strength and conditioning room and training room, a news media center, and new meeting rooms.

The seating configuration features a new lower seating bowl that takes the place of the old floor and loge sections. The new lower seating level includes padded stadium seats that replace the wood bleachers in the old floor setup. With the upgraded facilities and the improved seating area at floor level, the home team and fans experience the best playing atmosphere in the Pac-10.

"This was a great chance to both refurbish and reconfigure the seating at Maples Pavilion," Ted Leland said. "But at the same time, this renovation enabled us to enhance the building's fan friendly environment. The exciting and intimate atmosphere of Maples Pavilion continues to make it a great place for college athletics."

In the last several years, Maples Pavilion has become one of the hottest environments for college basketball, including the 2003 NCAA Women's Basketball West Regional and a 2003 NCAA Subregional, was originally dedicated on March 1, 1969 at a cost of $3.3 million. The building was named after its principal donor, the late Roscoe Maples, a member of the 1904 Stanford graduating class.

The pavilion is utilized throughout the year by university staff and students for recreational and intramural purposes. During the winter academic quarter, Maples is used continually used for noontime recreational basketball, men's and women's varsity basketball practice, and intramurals during the evening hours.

In addition to intercollegiate competition, the pavilion is also used for banquets and lectures.

"For Stanford players, Maples is a fantastic place to play ... I'm not so sure visiting teams share the same sentiment. With the rocking floor and the roar of the crowd you can feel the energy and excitement. Our fans are loud and loyal!"

- Jamila Wideman,
Stanford 1994-97

Maples Pavilion received a $30 million renovation after the 2003-04 season, including a new covered concourse, a new center-hung scoreboard with video and replay capabilities, and new locker, weight and training rooms.

Stanford Women's Basketball Giving Back to the Community

Along with a commitment to athletics and academics, the Stanford women's basketball team is invested in the local community. Each of the players is dedicated to participating in at least one community service activity per quarter and most give much more time.

Specifically, the players and coaches seek opportunities to motivate, provide instruction and empower others. The team was awarded for their efforts by winning the 2001 Thomas Ford Award given to the Stanford Athletic program whose student-athletes have demonstrated a special commitment to participation in local community outreach programs.

For the past seven years, the Stanford basketball team has conducted a mentor program with 20 young girls from East Side School's Shoot for the Stars Program. Initially facilitated by former Stanford star Jamila Wideman, Cardinal players meet on campus with these girls every other Sunday to write poetry, create projects, set personal goals, play basketball and other sports and to experience campus life. According to Shoot for the Stars coordinator, Gretchen Seeley, the influence of the Stanford Basketball players is seen in almost every aspect of the girls' lives – especially on the court and in the classroom.

The Cardinal players also make a special effort to make visits at the Lucille Packard Children's Hospital. Players interact with the children and learn from each other about determination and perseverance.

The team has also been active putting on basketball clinics in the community in recent years. Along with members of the Stanford men's basketball team, the women put on a clinic for both the boys and girls of East Side School. The coaches and players also held clinics for Take Your Daughters to Work Day, the Onetta Harris Community Center, the Girl Scouts and the Nikkei Basketball League. Last summer, the coaches also made a special trip to put on a clinic for at the 2004 Summer Shoot Out Boy's and Girl's Basketball Camp at the Chieftain Pit on the campus of Shiprock High School. The team also annually gathers donations to fund Thanksgiving dinner for the homeless in San Francisco.

All Stanford basketball players are involved in a pen pal program with La Entrada School in Menlo Park. This seven-year program was for elementary aged students who benefit from the motivating correspondence and extra writing opportunities. Each pen pal receives a player card of their respective Stanford player, each season the students from La Entrada are the special guests a home basketball game, and players visit the student's classrooms at the end of the year.

Media Information

Covering the Cardinal: The Stanford Media Relations Office welcomes interest in the Stanford Women's Basketball program by the media and looks forward to serving the members of the media during the upcoming season. We will make every effort to ensure your working experience is enjoyable. The following are some guidelines to help with your coverage of Stanford Women's Basketball:

Media Credentials: Credentials are only issued to accredited members of the working media. Working space in the press area is limited and passes will be issued on a first come, first served basis. Requests for credentials should be faxed to Jessica Raber, Assistant Media Relations Director at (650) 725-2957 or emailed to jraber@stanford.edu, at least one business day prior to each game. Media passes will be left at the Maples Pavilion Ticket Office in Will Call. For games at Santa Clara, passes will be left at the Leavey Center Ticket Office in Will Call.

Photo Credentials: Photo passes will be to accredited members of the media. All requests must be made at least 24 hours prior to each game. Photographers are not allowed to shoot from in front of or behind team benches or the scorers table. Flash photography is not permitted.

Strobe Photography: Photographers wishing to strobe Stanford Women's Basketball games must obtain approval to do so by contacting Jessica Raber, Assistant Director Media Relations, at least 24 hours prior to the game. No more than three sets of strobes are allowed for any game. Strobes must be installed at least two hours prior to the game (no exceptions) and installation should be arranged through the Stanford Athletic Facilities Office after obtaining approval from the Media Relations Office.

Parking: The main parking lot is located at the south end of Maples Pavilion on Campus Drive. A limited number of parking passes are available for members of the media. Outlets covering Stanford basketball on a regular basis will have first priority. Additional parking is available across the street from Maples Pavilion. University permits are not required on weekends or after 4 p.m. on weekdays.

Press Box: Press seating is assigned on the floor at Maples Pavilion (and the Leavey Center). A few seats in the upper east press area may be assigned as needed or requested. The courtside and upper press seating areas will be equipped with phone lines and internet access, conventional and wireless.

Press Area Services: Programs, media guides, cumulative statistics and game notes will be available prior to the start of each game. Complete box scores and play-by-play sheets will be distributed to the media at halftime and at the end of the game. A media relations representative will accommodate any fax requests at the conclusion of the game. Drinks and a light meal will be served approximately one hour before tipoff.

Post-Game Press Conferences: Stanford head coach Tara VanDerveer and players, along with the visiting head coach and players, will be available to the media following a 10-minute "cooling off" period. Press conferences will be held in the Maples Pavilion media room. Prior to the conclusion of the game, media members should inform the Stanford Media Relations staff which players they would like to interview after the game.

In-Season Interview Policy: All requests for player or coach interviews must be made through Jessica Raber at (650) 723-0996. Please allow at least 24 hours notice. Interviews can also be done in-person following practice. Since practice times vary, please call the Media Relations Office for an updated schedule.

Maples Pavilion: Stanford home games are played at Maples Pavilion on the Stanford University campus.
